Energy plan could cost additional $50 billion

Not if, but when

Hussein: next war horrible with big power involvement

CAIRO (UPI) — King Hussein of Jordan said today in an interview that the next Arab-Israeli war will be a catastrophe, with unprecedented bloodshed and likely big-power involvement.

"The question I ask is not whether such a catastrophe can be avoided but for how long it can be avoided," Hussein told the Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram.

"Unlike the last war (1973), the next one will be total," Hussein said. "In other words, a catastrophe. I do not know what kinds of weapons will be used in it but I know that the two sides have horrible weapons. Bloodshed will be unprecedented and big-power involvement in the conflict cannot be ruled out even if they do not want it." Stating that no solution to the Middle East crisis was in sight, Hussein characterized the present situation as "a false peace that is shrinking by the hour."

Hussein dodged a question on how

Jordan would act in the event of a new war.

Pointing out that Jordan's military strength was "limited," he said, "Our role will be determined in the light of Jordan's capabilities and resources on one hand and its responsibilities on the other."

Hussein denied reports that he had received offers from either Israel or the United States for a military disengagement on the Jordanian-Israeli front.

He said Jordan was no longer qualified to negotiate for the Israeli-occupied Jordan West Bank because of the decision taken at last October's Arab summit conference at Rabat to give the Palestine Liberation Organization sole responsibility for the area.

"Consequently, there has been no contact with any party to discuss any specific points and no plans have been presented to Jordan for (Israeli) withdrawal or disengagement of forces," he said.

Study shows $20 billion higher than Ford figure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Library of Congress study said today President Ford's energy proposals could cost the consumer an additional $50.3 billion in 1975 alone — $20 billion more than the White House claims.

In addition the study concluded that the ripple effect of the higher prices that would be triggered under the proposals could cause last year's 12 per cent inflation rate to continue this year.

The study, released by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., assumes that industry would pass on all of the additional costs to the consumer — something that Moss said is a justified assumption based on past history.

"I am disappointed to hear that President Ford has vowed to stubbornly continue supporting this energy package despite its cost to consumers and its overall impact on our economy," Moss said. "While the President says his tax cut proposals would stimulate growth, the cost of his energy proposals suggests that his programs would take more from Americans than it would give them."

He said the impact of the program would be to deepen the recession.

The study estimated that the biggest chunk of the increased consumer cost, $12.6 billion, would come from the tax on crude oil. Not only would the consumer pay that price at the gas pump, the study said, but he would also be hit by higher food prices caused by the increase in the cost of producing fertilizer.

The study estimated decontrolling the price of oil currently under control would be $11 billion, the excise tax on natural gas would cost $8.3 billion and the deregulation of "new" natural gas, that which has not been contracted for, would be a minimum of $5.4 billion.

In addition, the study suggested that two changes in the way utilities would be allowed to keep their books for rate setting purposes would cost the consumer $6.8 billion and $7.8 billion respectively. And it said allowing the price of coal to rise nearer to the price of oil would cost $5.2 billion.

"All told these measures could cost at least $50.3 billion in 1975," the study concluded. "Given an anticipated 1975 gross national product of $1,500 billion they could raise prices by three percentage points. Directly, before consideration of ripple effects, the proposals will raise the rate of inflation from an estimated 6 to 7 per cent to 9 to 10 per cent."

The result, it said, would be to raise the 1975 inflation rate by about 50 per cent in direct cost.

"Potentially, this energy package's primary and ripple effects could cause 1974's 12 per cent inflation rate to continue into the new year."

Rain heading this way

The warm spell which has kept the valley basking in sunshine for the past two weeks is expected to dissipate this weekend, and the weatherman forecasts some rain Sunday or Monday.

A rain front is moving into the Southland from the Oregon coast and is expected to arrive in the valley Sunday night or Monday morning, dropping the high temperatures below the 70s for the first time since Jan. 11.

The U.S. Weather Service predicts a 20 per cent possibility of rain with overcast skies late Sunday.

But until then fair and warm weather is predicted throughout the valley, with high temperatures ranging from the mid-70s to the low 80s and the lows in the low 40s.

Algerian urges oil producing nations to 'unite against U.S. military intervention threats'

ALGIERS (UPI) — Algerian Foreign Minister Abdelaziz Bouteflika called on the world's major oil-exporting nations today to band together against "libel and threats of military intervention" by the United States.

Bouteflika spoke at the opening session of a meeting of the 13-nation Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries called to map out a common political and economic strategy in their mounting confrontation with the industrialized nations of the West.

There have been warnings by President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger that they could not rule out the use of force if the oil nations used their petroleum profits to strangle Western economies.

Bouteflika attacked what he called "a policy of intoxication of world public opinion which aims at creating restrictions and resentments" against oil producing nations.

"...The more serious thing is that it is backed up by official declarations and solemn warnings of the highest dignitaries of the Western political world," Bouteflika said in an apparent reference to the Ford and Kissinger statements.

"The results of our discussions will lead to a stage of cooperation at a higher level," Bouteflika said. He said the Western nations wish to reestablish their economic domination of the oil producing states and called on the OPEC to band together against Western "libel and threats of military intervention."

Bouteflika proposed that instead of confrontation between the oil users and oil exporters there should be "cooperation on the basis of equality to try and create a new economic order."

"Confrontation could lead to conflict and an era of precariousness for the entire world," he said.

The meeting marks OPEC's entry into the world's political arena in the wake of its spectacular successes on the oil price front.

OPEC members produce 85 per cent of world oil exports. By acting together they have succeeded in forcing oil prices by 400 per cent in 15 months and increasing their oil revenues from $15 billion in 1972 to $100 billion in 1974.

Bouteflika said OPEC's members should now draw together politically to thwart Western efforts "through libel and military intervention" to reestablish economic dominance of the third world.

He denounced the U.S.-sponsored International Energy Agency as an instrument of confrontation between oil users and exporters. He proposed instead "cooperation on a basis of equality to try and create a new world economic order."

Ford aide denies troops being sent to Mideast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford's chief spokesman said today there is "no truth" to a report that three divisions of U.S. troops are being sent to the Middle East.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said he had been in contact with Defense Secretary James Schlesinger and gotten a firm denial. He promised to make public a strong statement from Schlesinger at a White House news briefing later today.

"There's no truth to it," said Nessen. The report first appeared in New Republic magazine and NBC correspondent John Chancellor said in a nationally televised interview with President Ford Thursday night that the Pentagon had confirmed that three American divisions were being prepared for the Mideast.

Ford, who has refused to close out the remote possibility that the United States might use military force in the Mideast if "strangled" for oil, declined to comment on "military contingency plans" when questioned by Chancellor. "The New Republic this week has a story saying that there are three American divisions being sent to the Middle East or being prepared for the Middle East. We called the Pentagon and got a confirmation on that — that one is Airborne, one is Airmobile and one is Armored — and it's a little unclear as to whether this is a contingency plan, because we don't know where we'd put the divisions in the Middle East. Could you shed a little light on that?"

"I don't think I ought to talk about any particular military contingency plans John. I think what I said concerning strangulation and Dr. Kissinger's comment is about as far as I ought to go," Ford replied.

Ford again backed up Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger who said in a recent magazine interview the United States would not rule out use of force to obtain Middle East oil if the United States faced industrial "strangulation."

Asked about the troop report, the Pentagon said: "We don't discuss contingency plans."

However, Pentagon sources said "there are no plans to move troops into the Middle East. The Marines have held desert training exercises since 1959 at their base at Twentynine Palms, Calif. but there is no training going on in any of the services designed specifically for an invasion of a desert country."

Cost of average food basket jumped 14 per cent in 1974

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The average weekly cost of a consumer food market basket jumped 14 per cent in 1974, preliminary Agriculture Department figures showed Friday.

The department said the food basket cost — a collection of U.S. farm-produced foods needed to feed a theoretical household of 3.2 persons — rose to $33.65 a week last year, up $4.09 from 1973.

Department records showed $3.45 or 84 per cent of the $4.09 increase was due to a record boom in middlemen's charges for processing and marketing food last year.

Because the basket omits some foods commonly used by families, it is considered an indicator of trends in food costs rather than a precise measure of actual family grocery bills.

The tentative 1974 estimates contrasted sharply with 1973 when most of the retail food price gain was due to higher farm prices.

Preliminary estimates put the middleman's share of the theoretical food basket at a weekly average of $19.53 in 1974, up 21.5 per cent from 1973.

The 21.5 per cent increase in marketing costs was three times as great as any previous year-to-year hike.

Experts estimated the market basket retail price for December had a record $34.87 weekly, up 0.8 per cent or 29 cents from November to reach a peak for the fifth straight month.

Police gun down suspect linked to mass slaying

MONTREAL (UPI) — Richard Blass, wanted for questioning in the mass slaying of 13 persons in the Club Gargantua Tuesday, was killed today in a shootout with police.

Blass, 29, a two-time prison escapee listed as one of Canada's most wanted men, was killed when Quebec Provincial Police surrounded a chalet in the Laurentian ski resort community of Val David, 40 miles north of Montreal.

Police said Blass died during gunfire when he refused a demand for his surrender.

Blass, a convicted holdupman whose latest prison escape occurred in October, had been named suspect in a double-murder that occurred in the club less than three months ago.

"We certainly wanted to question him about Tuesday's 13 murders," a Montreal night patrol squad detective said.

"Even if we didn't have any direct evidence, the club was one of his hangouts and he knew the manager."

Gargantua Club manager Rejean Fortin, 43, was shot in the back before he and 12 other persons were shoved into a small storage room and left to die of asphyxiation when the club was set afire.

Pathologists reported Fortin died of the bullet wound, which lodged in his heart.

Blass was named a suspect in the murders Oct. 30 of two former members of a gang he once led, Raymond Laurin, 30, and Roger Levesque, who were gunned down by two men as they sat at a table in the Gargantua, a seamy hangout of petty criminals in Montreal's north-end sector.

Fortin, a former policeman, was believed to have been present at the time. Police have speculated the Gargantua killings may have been motivated by a need to wipe out witnesses.

Blass and four other prisoners made a spectacular breakout from the maximum security wing of the St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary in mid-October.

In a letter to the public signed "The Cat", Blass vowed to go on a killing spree if newsmen were not allowed to tour the prison, which he termed inhuman. The visit was subsequently arranged.

Since then, Blass was allegedly spotted at various bank robberies, but always eluded police. A week before the Club Gargantua killings, he fled minutes before police closed in on one of his hideouts in the city's north-end.

The Gargantua slayings, one of the worst mass murders in modern Canadian history, are believed by police to have been carried out by more than one person.

After the 13 persons were herded into a stockroom at the rear of the bar, a padlock was slung through a hasp on the door, and a heavy, record player was shoved in front of the door. The club was then set ablaze.

Dollar again skids on European market

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The beleaguered dollar hit all-time lows in Amsterdam and Zurich today. It fell to an 18-month low in Brussels and Frankfurt and a 14-month low in Paris.

The dollar opened at 2.5 Swiss francs in Zurich but within half an hour had plunged to 2.4775, well below the previous all time low of 2.495 hit Wednesday.

It was also far beneath the 2.500 point considered by the Swiss government as the danger level. If the dollar drops lower than that, the government feels, Switzerland's tourist and export industries will be hurt.

Bill would increase tax on cigarettes

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill increasing the tax on cigarettes by one cent a pack starting next July to produce $29 million a year for lung cancer research was introduced Thursday in the Assembly.

"I am convinced that this legislation (AB568) is necessary if we are going to win the fight against lung cancer," said author Bob Wilson, D-San Diego, noting that there has been a cutback in funds for cancer research.

It's 'criminal' to rule out offshore wells--Morton

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton said Thursday that it would be a "criminal omission" if offshore oil drilling were

Paralyzed teen wins $3 million

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) — A Superior Court jury has awarded $3 million in damages to an 18-year-old youth paralyzed as a result of injuries suffered when he dived from a Southern Pacific Railroad trestle at the mouth of the San Lorenzo River in 1972.

ruled out as means of replenishing diminishing domestic oil supplies. Speaking at a news conference and at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon, Morton said the Interior Department will not go ahead with offshore leases until "all the facts are in" and until an environmental impact report is filed.

"I think that if no area is leased and we decide not to expand our production of oil, that in four or five years this country would be in very, very serious trouble," he said.

"Certainly, then, you can almost look back on this as almost a criminal omission because we're depleting our oil reserves today at approximately 8 per cent a year.

"That means that at the end of 10 years, you've depleted your oil production by 80 per cent. If you put an 80 per cent reduction in production of domestic oil on to our economy the result would be catastrophic."

The secretary said that from a practical standpoint the state has the final say on whether significant amounts of oil can be produced from oil leases in the federal lands along the Southern California coastline.

Clemency pleas up sharply as deadline nears

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Presidential Clemency Board's final drive before the Jan. 31 deadline has more than doubled applications for clemency, board chairman Charles E. Goodell said Thursday.

Goodell, a former Republican senator from New York, said the board began its drive two weeks ago to get the clemency message across to persons convicted of AWOL, desertion or draft offenses.

"I want to make it clear this is not a recruitment drive," he told reporters, noting the encouraging if belated response to clemency.

"With so few days left we feel conscience bound to make this final attempt to advise potential applicants about the options available to them under the program," he said.

Outside the Press Club, about 20 protesters demonstrated for unconditional amnesty.

"It's just not going to happen," Goodell told one of the demonstrators. "You have a view that I respect very much, but with which I must respectfully disagree."

Judge rejects bank unit appeal on reform law

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Sacramento Superior Court judge has refused to block implementation of portions of the tough new Political Reform Act directed at lobbyists.

Judge B. Abbott Goldberg ruled Thursday that "no useful purpose would be served" by issuing an injunction and raised the possibility that arguments against parts of the law would not "prevail on the merits."

The decision against the California Bankers Association followed another favorable ruling earlier this week in legal battles over the constitutionality of the law, which the voters approved as Prop. 9.

The association and several large banks requested the injunction on the grounds the law would force public disclosure of confidential bank records of state officials covered by the act.

The law institutes broad campaign spending and contribution requirements to monitor the activities of lobbyists and conflicts-of-interest involving public officials.

Goldberg ruled the new reporting requirements can be "justified as a means of preventing evasions of the act and promoting objective rather than sympathetic conduct by officials."

On Monday, Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Harry L. Hupp rejected arguments by 35 lobbyists that the reform law is unconstitutionally vague and violates state requirements limiting initiative measures to a single subject.

"The court has in effect reaffirmed the decision of the voters that Prop. 9 is a workable and reasonable measure to assure the integrity of our democratic form of government," said Dan Lowenstein, chairman of the Fair Political Practices Commission.

The commission is charged with enforcing the provisions of the new law.

Hupp, however, left the door open for the lobbyists by taking under submission their argument that a ban on contributions to political candidates violates their constitutional right to free speech. Hupp gave no indication when a ruling would be issued.

Goldberg told the bankers to take their specific questions about the law to the commission for a decision before requesting an injunction in court.

He also ruled a preliminary injunction "might be harmful" to the commission's organizational efforts and unnecessarily delay implementation of the act.

20 Southland quakes in 2 weeks

13 tremors rock Imperial Valley

BRAWLEY, Calif. (UPI) — More than 20 earthquakes have shaken scattered areas of Southern California in the past two weeks, including a "swarm" of 13 tremors that shimmied the Imperial Valley throughout the day Thursday.

The quakes in the area just north of the Mexican border cracked windows and walls, shook canned goods onto supermarket floors and frightened a few visiting midwesterners, but caused no serious injury or damage.

The quakes ranged in magnitude from a mild 3.5 on the Richter scale to a sharp 4.7, a shock big enough to be felt 100 miles to the north, and in areas of western Arizona.

"It is a typical kind of thing," said seismologist Clarence Allen, at Cal Tech in Pasadena, saying the Imperial Valley is subject to such earthquake swarms "about this strength every two or three years."

But a colleague, seismologist Martin Friedman, said Thursday's swarm was one of the strongest in 40 years.

"There must have been a lot of sleep lost in that area," he said. The swarm had an epicenter about three miles southeast of Brawley, where two quakes were centered Tuesday.

A quake registering 4.0 shook Santa Monica and the Malibu area of Los Angeles Tuesday. Last week, a quake registering 4.7 rattled the coastal area south of Los Angeles Sunday, followed the next day by two tremors registering 3.8 and 3.1 that hit southwestern Los Angeles and northwestern Orange counties.

An interview with the President

Lots of 'ifs,' last resorts

MODEST ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller receives applause as he is introduced at Junior Achievement Hall of Fame banquet in Chicago Thursday. Rockefeller made his first major speech since being sworn into office.

Rocky to Congress:

Back Ford, or come up with your own program

CHICAGO (UPI) — Vice President Nelson Rockefeller says that if Congress does not act quickly on President Ford's economic program it must develop its own alternatives for ending the nation's inflation and recession.

In his first major speech as vice president, Rockefeller praised the Ford program, but indicated there was uncertainty in the administration as to whether it will be approved by Congress.

"Congress has the responsibility to respond positively by adopting the President's program or to come up with a program of its own which recognizes the critical nature of this situation," Rockefeller told a National Business Leadership Conference dinner Thursday night.

Later talking to reporters aboard Air Force II on the return trip to Washington, Rockefeller cautioned against Congress's approving a tax cut without other elements of a comprehensive economic program.

"If you go for the tax cut without the rest of it, you're going to go back to inflation," Rockefeller said.

Newsman asked what he thought the chances are that Congress would pass Ford's recession and inflation fighting program.

"What have you got — big Democratic majorities," Rockefeller replied, "so you can't force these things through."

"I don't know what's going to happen here and I don't think they (Congress) know," Rockefeller said. "They say they are not going to pass the President's program and the country is in trouble — where do you go from there?"

But he said that it is absolutely necessary that a comprehensive program be passed to answer a problem he said was a more serious challenge "than at any time short of war."

"Never before in peace time have there been such violent disruptions in our economic system," he said.

"The people are ready for action and they want to see the problems solved," Rockefeller said. "And that is the responsibility of government — both the President and Congress — and if we don't face up to that challenge we are not going to restore the people's confidence."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford spoke of last resorts, of many "ifs."

—If the nation's economy is still grim in 1976, Ford suggested he might not run for President, being "realistic" in the face of "tough odds." But, he quickly added, he thought the economy would rebound. "I'm planning to be a candidate," he said.

—If Ford had not ordered an increase in the imported oil tariff that could raise the cost of a gallon of gasoline 8 to 10 cents, Congress might have delayed his entire economic and energy program. The order was signed a few hours before Thursday's broadcast interview with NBC.

—If Congress has not acted in roughly three months," he said, "I can, of course, remove the import duty I have imposed."

—If Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is not successful next month on his return to peacemaking in the Middle East, Ford said "I think we undoubtedly would be forced to go to Geneva." He said all his advisers consider the chance of war in the Mideast is high.

—If there is war, if there is an embargo by all the oil producing nations, the United States would be forced into drastic fuel allocation and conservation. Gasoline rationing, Ford said, would be "a last resort" which could last 5 to 10 years.

—If the western industrialized nations faced strangulation, the United States "would be prepared to take the appropriate action." He did not comment on a report that three American divisions were either being sent or prepared for the Middle East.

—If there were moves to have the FBI get rid of unnecessary, derogatory information on congressmen, "I would have no opposition to having it disposed of," Ford said the CIA may have made mistakes in the past 10 years, but there is currently no domestic spying.

—If Congress does not provide at least $200 million, South Vietnam will not be able to hold off the North Vietnamese. He charged Hanoi with a "total disregard" of the Paris peace treaty.

The relaxed interview with John Chancellor and Tom Brokaw was conducted in a small sitting alcove favored by presidential families. In the private presidential living quarters, part of the White House few ever see, Ford spoke seriously of war and the economy.

He again talked of an extreme oil embargo. "When you are being strangled," he said, "it is a question of either dying or living and you use the word 'strangulation' in relationship to the existence of the United States or its nonexistence. I think the public has to have a reassurance ... that we are not going to permit America to be strangled to death."

Ford agreed the moral implications of taking Arab oil posed a "troublesome question," but added "wars have been fought over natural resources from time immemorial."

Ford attacked the North Vietnamese as he argued for the additional $300 million in aid to South Vietnam, calling it "adequate for the current circumstances." He said Hanoi violated a promise not to infiltrate troops across the border; refused to help find missing U.S. soldiers; refused to negotiate a political settlement, and called off peace meetings.

Phone rate hike bid challenged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration's anti-inflation panel, getting tougher, is challenging a $700 million rate increase proposed by the nation's biggest corporation — American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The Council on Wage and Price Stability said Thursday the proposed increase was not justified by higher costs. It asked the Federal Communications Commission to suspend the action for up to three months and investigate.

The higher rates were to take effect March 4, increasing the cost of about 70 per cent of all interstate telephone calls.

In a complex plan filed Jan. 3 with the FCC, the phone company asked to raise its overall rate level by 7.2 per cent and its rate of return on investment from 8.5 per cent to between 10.5 and 11 per cent.

It wants to reshuffle the rate schedule so that customers pay roughly what a service costs. For example, telephone calls that require an operator's help would rise sharply in price to reflect rising labor costs. Dialed station to station calls in off-peak hours would cost less in many cases.

Table shows how energy price hikes are offset by tax cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Following is a table taken from Federal Energy Administration figures and showing how direct energy price increases under President Ford's proposed program would be offset for all but the wealthy by permanent income tax cuts beginning in 1975.

The FEA defines "poor" households as those with an average annual income of $2,500; "lower-middle" as those with an average annual income of $3,000; "upper-middle" as those with an average annual income of $14,000; and "well-off" as those with an average annual income of $24,500.

Poor
Average Increase in Energy Cost:

$82. Average Income Tax Cut: $97. Difference: plus $15.

Lower-Middle

Average Increase in Energy Costs: $129. Average Income Tax Cut: $311. Difference: plus $182.

Upper-Middle

Average Increase in Energy Costs: $189. Average Income Tax Cut: $253. Difference: plus $64.

Well-Off

Average Increase in Energy Costs: $225. Average Income Tax Cut: $183. Difference: minus $42.

Plus indicates lower tax more than offsets higher energy costs; minus indicates tax fails to offset higher energy costs.

Assembly okays ending oil depletion allowance

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation to do away with oil depletion allowances enjoyed by oil companies was approved by the Assembly Thursday over Republican charges that it would drive petroleum firms out of the state.

The measure (AB177) by Assemblyman Bill Lockyer, D-San Leandro, was approved 57-17, with seven Republicans joining a solid Democratic block vote.

The measure, supported by Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., was sent to the Senate which has previously defeated identical legislation.

Assemblyman Bob Beverly, R-Manhattan Beach, GOP floor leader, warned the Democratic-controlled house that the measure could hurt oil companies, raise the cost of gasoline, and take tax revenue away from local governments.

Beverly, who complained that Democrats had decided to support the measure in a caucus before the floor session, called the measure inconsistent and "anti-business."

Lockyer estimated closing the tax "loopholes" would bring the state $50 million in new revenues annually.

"It is the greatest ripoff of California taxpayers ever, and should be ended," said Lockyer, noting that the 22 per cent deduction from gross income can go as high as 50 per cent of net receipts.

For example, an oil company with $300,000 income annually could subtract $200,000 in net operating expenses, then further subtracting 22 per cent of the income for depletion allowance giving them a net taxable income of $100,000. At a 9 per cent tax rate the company would owe $17,000 in taxes.

Driving on right side of road tied to tornado births

LONDON (UPI) — Four California scientists said in a report published today that the increase in killer tornadoes in the United States is due in part not only to an increase in cars and trucks but also to the fact that they drive on the righthand side.

The report, in the current issue of the scientific magazine Nature, said that two million automobiles and 600,000 trucks on the move at any one time in the United States is a prime cause of the sharp increase in tornadoes over the past half century.

This is because opposing streams of traffic driving on the right create cyclical turbulence in the atmosphere, injecting an anticlockwise force even greater than natural tornado creating forces, they said.

Not only did they report a link between growing traffic density and a six-fold increase in tornadoes in the United States since the 1920s, but said "aided by increasing traffic flows, the center of tornado activity in the U.S. has been moving steadily eastward during the last 40 years."

"Tornadoes are now common in eastern states where they were previously unknown," they said.

Second robbery of market in four days

Two peppered with bird shot in holdup

Two young men were showered with birdshot but were unhurt Thursday night in the climax to the second robbery in four days at the 7-11 Market at 625 S. Dudley St., Pomona.

The victims were William S. Calhoun, 19, a clerk at the store, and Rodney Rath, 18, his friend who returned to the store moments after the holdup.

Calhoun told police that one of the two robbers pulled a small pistol after making a purchase. He said the pair looted the cash register and fled across the parking lot and a vacant field. Calhoun went outside, met Rath and they were fired upon by one of the robbers who turned and triggered a shotgun.

The robber with the pistol was a Negro about 19, 5 feet 9 weighing 155 pounds. He wore a blue jacket, orange cap and white T-shirt with "Phy. Ed." on the front.

The other man was a Caucasian about 18, 5 feet 8 weighing 150 pounds. He wore an off-white jacket, blue flairs and had thick hair which covered his ears.

Upland police this morning are searching for a man who robbed the Green Goddess Store at 1264 W. Foothill Blvd. of a small amount of cash Wednesday evening.

Police said the man, wearing white bell-bottom pants and a brown long sleeve shirt walked into the Upland flower shop at about 7:45 p.m. drew a pistol and ordered the cashier, Shirley Fraser to hand over the cash from the register.

The cashier said the gunman was a Caucasian, 35, 5 feet 5, 135 pounds, with brown wavy hair.

An 18-year-old Maywood man has been arrested by West End sheriff's deputies in connection with the Nov. 17 robbery of a Cucamonga woman at the Mayfair Laundromat on Foothill Boulevard and Malachite Road in Cucamonga.

Carlos Montano of Maywood according to deputies, was arrested Wednesday.

nesday following a two-month investigation. He is accused of taking the woman's purse, containing $15 and identification, at gunpoint.

Also in Cucamonga, San Bernardino County sheriff's investigators and Foothill Fire District inspectors said today a house fire at 8339 Sierra Madre St. may have been set to cover a burglary Wednesday night.

The fire, reported at 6:21 p.m. Wednesday, totally engulfed one bedroom of a house owned by Jo Ann Weber, firemen said. The fire caused an estimated $5,000 damage to the structure and an as yet undetermined amount to its contents.

Sheriff's arson investigators were called to the scene after firemen found several drawers in a dresser open and other evidence of a break-in.

Firemen reported that, if the blaze had gone undetected a few minutes longer the entire home could have been lost. The residents had been away from the home more than 24 hours.

In Upland, an off-duty police officer sounded his car horn and ran a red light to attract the attention of other officers Thursday night to get help in apprehending a suspected thief.

Upland Police Officer Art Lindars said he had gone into the Thrifty Drug Store at 157 E. Foothill Blvd. and saw a man take several liquor bottles and shove them under his Navy Peacoat.

Lindars decided he would follow the man and try to catch the attention of on-duty patrol officers on the road.

Other officers saw his car going through the red light and went in pursuit. Lindars, after the other officers recognized him, signaled that he was chasing a burglar.

The suspect was pulled over and placed under arrest by the uniformed officers. Booked in the West End Jail this morning on suspicion of burglary was Juan Cathart, 35, of 3105 Abbott Rd., Pomona.

Three Pomona residents reported that windows in their homes were shattered this week by unexplained single shotgun blasts.

The first was at 1320 W. Second St., where a shot struck a door-window in the front of the house, Margaret G. Ortiz, 19, told officers.

A few minutes later a blast struck a front window at 251 S. Hamilton Blvd., the residence of Macello Perez, 43.

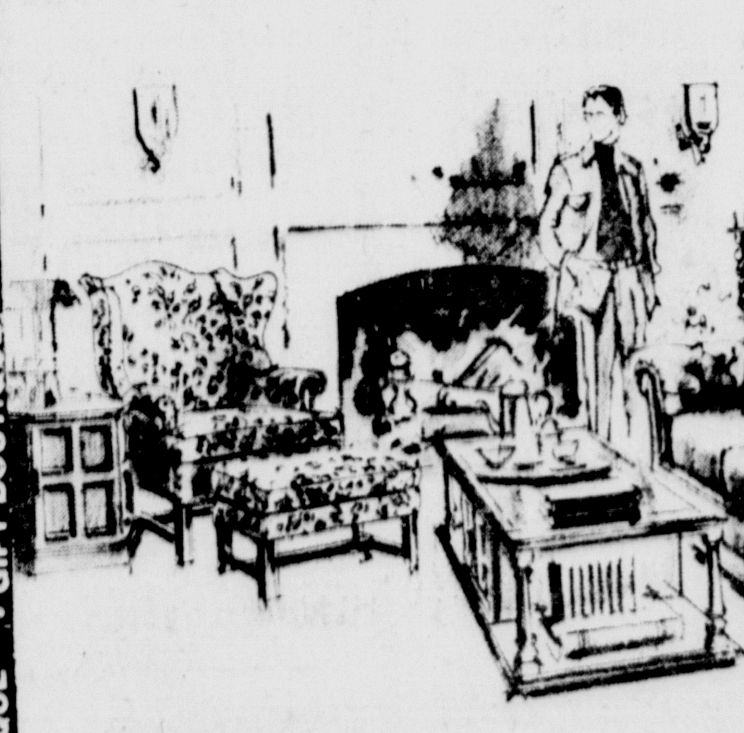

The third shot, 15 minutes later, broke a window at 1874 S. Park Ave., and was reported by Trine V. Perez, 40.

Officers said it was the second time recently that Perez' home has been fired upon.

Sheila A. Watson

Sheila Anjanette Watson, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Watson of 2361 Las Flores St., Pomona, died Wednesday in Los Angeles County-USC Medical Center, Los Angeles.

Sheila was born Dec. 19, 1969, in California. She was a Head Start pupil at North San Antonio School, Pomona.

Besides her parents, she is survived by a brother, Sheldon James of the home; her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Spurlock of Palestine, Tex.; her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Jessie B. Watson of Prichard, Ala.; and several aunts and uncles.

Funeral services are pending.

Pomona Valley Mortuary, Pomona, is in charge of arrangements.

Bertha May Cooper

Mrs. Bertha May Cooper of 549 Williams Ave., Pomona, died Thursday morning in Pomona Valley Community Hospital following two weeks of illness.

Mrs. Cooper was born Jan. 25, 1884, in Tempe, Ariz. She came to California in 1907 from Tempe and had lived in Ontario prior to moving to Pomona in 1924. Mrs. Cooper was a member of the Bethel Baptist Church, Pomona.

DR. DONALD COGGAN

Archbishop of Canterbury enthroned

CANTERBURY, England (UPI) — A round-faced, bespectacled clergyman was enthroned as the 101st Archbishop of Canterbury today in a ceremony of key importance for Christian unity.

Dr. Donald Coggan, 65, was installed upon the throne of St. Augustine as Primate of All England and head of the 64-million-member Anglican community in a ceremony of medieval splendor wrapped in a police blanket of tight security.

Police marksmen lined roofs near Canterbury Cathedral. Plainclothes detectives mingled with the praying congregation. Dr. Coggan himself was searched by police alert for any attempt at interference by the Irish Republican Army or other body.

"Our divisions will have to go," Dr. Coggan said in his enthronement sermon. It was preached to a vast assembly of dignitaries from all Christian faiths which stressed the ecumenical character of the occasion.

The Vatican sent an official delegation to the colorful ceremony at Canterbury Cathedral for the first time since the Roman Catholic and Anglican churches split 400 years ago.

PUBLIC NOTICE

VCT's 'Miss Jean Brodie'

Actress sparkles in role

By JOSEPH H. FIRMAN

To no one's surprise, the star of the Valley Community Theater production of "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie" is Jean Brodie, played by Jane Reilly, a sparkling newcomer to the VCT stage but clearly no novice on the boards.

The Jay Presson Allen drama opened Thursday and will be repeated at the theater, 132 E. Third St., Pomona, at 8:30 Friday and Saturday nights for several weekends.

Not having seen the filmed version of "Miss Brodie," starring Maggie Smith, I have no grounds for comparison, but Miss Reilly takes over the part of the romantic, melodramatic school teacher and makes it her own, creating a colorful and vivacious portrait. She is a consummate artist, warm, devious, arch, bewildered, an actress with lively, expressive hands — occasionally over used — a sensitive, responsive face and the body of a dancer.

Miss Reilly gets excellent support from a gaggle of pretty nymphets, all of whom display acting ability and stagecraft beyond their years. Donna McCormick gives a moving performance as Sandy, advancing convincingly from straw-hatted schoolgirl to mistress of an artist to, finally, a young but mature adult. It's a demanding role, and Miss McCormick is equal to its challenge.

Cecily French is a piquant Jenny; Colleen Schultz gives her customary warm, individual performance as Jenny, and Carol Spencer makes a sweet, ill-fated Mary MacGregor.

On the male side Jim Stanley as Teddy provides a sturdy, conventional, amoral artist, sexually successful but at a loss with Miss Brodie and her young charges. Joe Boydell as Gordon is something of a stereotype as the plaintive, obliging alternate lover.

Sonya Urquhart is a suitable subdued and humorless Sister Helena; Bill Himebaugh is good as the inquiring Mr. Perry, and Martha Fuller fills in sturdily for the ailing Nancy Humphreys as Miss Mackay.

"Jean Brodie" is an interesting study of an unusual middle-aged spinster school teacher trying to live through her pupils, but it is overlong, talky, and broken into a series of short blackout scenes that make it seem longer than it is.

Jim Gardner directs with skill and a creditable restraint on the sentimentality.

Drinking at 18 bill fails

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A measure to lower the legal drinking age from 21 to 18 met defeat in the Assembly Thursday, but its author said he would ask for reconsideration possibly next week. The proposed constitutional amendment (ACA15) by Assemblyman Robert C. Cline, R-Northridge, failed on a 46-26 vote, eight votes short of the needed 54. Cline said he thought he could win reconsideration of the measure, but the final vote for passage "would be tight." The measure, which has previously passed the Assembly and defeated in the Senate, would put the issue before the voters.

Courthouse shootout

Magee gets life sentence

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Convict Russell Magee, 35, was sentenced to life in prison Thursday for his role in the 1970 Marin County courthouse shootout which left a judge, two other prisoners and an accomplice dead.

Santa Clara County Superior Court Judge William Ingram imposed the sentence as a result of Magee's guilty plea to a kidnap charge.

Outside the courtroom, some 35 demonstrators shouting "Free Russell" were arrested on charges of failure to disperse.

After the convict entered his plea, he sought to have it wiped out. In fact, he carried his case all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court which recently ruled he could not change his plea.

The case was transferred here from San Rafael on a change of venue motion.

Another defendant was militant Angela Davis who was acquitted by a jury of kidnap, murder and conspiracy charges resulting from the gunfight.

The bloody incident started when Jonathan Jackson, brother of the late black convict leader George Jackson, smuggled weapons into the courtroom of Judge Harold Haley.

City office open Saturday--hiring begins for 23 jobs

The city of Pomona will begin accepting applications for 23 additional jobs Saturday under the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

The jobs include administrative, clerical, maintenance, technician, and community worker positions with salary ranges of $400 to $800 per month. Jobs will run from five to 11 months.

All positions will be filled by Feb. 10.

In order to speed the hiring process, Pomona's Personnel Department will be open Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Applications will also be accepted Monday through Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Interviews will be conducted on a continuous basis as applications are filed.

Jobs are open to Pomona residents who have been unemployed for 30 days or are underemployed.

All inquiries should be made in person.

A detailed account of all positions will be published in the classified section of Sunday's Progress-Bulletin.

Dump site alternate evaluated

An evaluation of an alternate dumpsite in the Chino Hills is expected to be completed by March.

So reported Bobby Ingram, director of San Bernardino County's Refuse Disposal Department which is making the study.

His office has previously recommended a 1,000-acre site located a half mile south of the Corona Expressway near Pomona-Rincon Road and about two miles southeast of Los Seranos.

County supervisors, however, requested officials to look at an alternate site after area residents urged that the amenities of that site be preserved.

The alternate site is near Prado Dam in the county's southern tip. The 1,200 acres proposed is 1½ miles west of the Corona Expressway.

Ingram said those making the study are looking at the new site's transportation access, development costs, land use, site capacity to serve the county's need and environmental aspects such as drainage.

When completed, the evaluation will be presented to the county planning staff for possible review by the county Planning Commission. This would then be sent to the county Board of Supervisors for a final decision.

A new dumpsite is sought to serve the communities of Chino, Los Seranos, Glenmeade, Ontario and Montclair. It would serve to prolong the life of the Milliken Avenue dumpsite in Ontario which is nearing capacity.

Driver arrested after car strikes sign, rail gate

An Ontario man was arrested late Thursday night after a traffic accident in Pomona which injured him, his wife and 5-month-old child.

The man, Frank F. Chavez, 24, 828 E. California St., was booked on suspicion of felonious drunken driving. The mishap was at First Street and East End Avenue.

Police reported that Chavez drove around a street construction zone barricade and struck a sign, railroad crossing gate and a heavy vehicle used to smooth asphalt road surfaces. Chavez' car was a total loss but the roller was undamaged.

Chavez and his wife were released after treatment at Pomona Valley Community Hospital but the infant was admitted for treatment of a head injury. His condition today was termed fair.

McVittie plans to give it push

New plea being readied for valley bicycle trail

A new application for federal funds to help develop a 35-mile bike trail system for valley riders is being prepared for submission.

Total cost of the trail is estimated at $315,260, with half the amount being asked from the U.S. Department of Interior. The federal application is being processed through the state's Parks and Recreation Department.

Assemblyman Bill McVittie, D-65th Dist., said he discussed the existing application recently with Richard Felty, deputy director of the Parks and Recreation Department.

Two legislators urge probe of ranch

Two state legislators have requested an investigation of circumstances regarding the starving horses found at Rex Ellsworth's ranch in Chino.

Assemblyman Bill McVittie, D-65th Dist., and Assemblyman Terry Goggin, D-66th Dist., both representing sections of San Bernardino County, announced Thursday in Sacramento they had requested the state Board of Examiners in Veterinary Medicine to investigate the facts and report back to them.

"It's shocking that over 100 pregnant mares could be left to starve when a veterinary physician was on the premises," said McVittie.

"It appears there's an obvious need for legislation here. The Business and Professions Code which covers the conduct of veterinary physicians is silent on the duty of the animal doctor to notify authorities where there is an abuse or mistreatment of animals.

"We feel that any state licensee who cares for animals on a professional basis should have the duty of promptly reporting to the nearest law enforcement agency or animal control shelter any situation involving abuse, mistreatment or failure to provide for these helpless creatures."

The two freshmen Assembly members also reported the horses in question were apparently heavily mortgaged as collateral for a loan. They said present provisions of the Commercial Code fail to distinguish animals from personal property such as pianos, equipment and machinery.

"Fortunately, concerned citizens brought this matter to the attention of local authorities before all the horses perished," said McVittie. "We have also referred this matter to the legislative counsel so we can take immediate action to prevent any future repeat of this tragedy in California."

Meanwhile in Benton, La., Kim Elsworth, son of the famed racehorse owner Rex Ellsworth, claimed his father does care about his horses and that the Chino ranch — which produced the winner of the Kentucky Derby two decades ago — has fallen on hard times.

Ellsworth said his father will do everything he can to take care of the animals, even if it means selling some of them.

The father, whose horse, Swaps, won the Kentucky Derby in 1955, has been accused by animal welfare authorities of allowing some of the horses to die of starvation.

The son has 50 to 60 thoroughbreds on a ranch near Benton. He said some of the horses were brought from the Chino ranch last year.

Other horses at Chino were being transported to another ranch near Tucson, Ariz., on a daily basis before news of their conditions was made public.

"Problems do exist, but I do think any farm in America will have some thin mares at this time of year that don't look good," said the younger Ellsworth. "Hopefully, if we can have a little break and this kind of blows over, we can continue to get the horses moved around and taken care of or sold."

2 Orange County cities intend to join campaign for a new area airport

The Inter-County Airport Authority may soon be adding two new cities as it seeks to begin a study to determine future aviation needs for a three-county area.

At present the authority consists of the cities of Chino and Stanton. But the Santa Ana City Council voted 5-2 this month to seek membership and the authority has received a letter requesting membership from the City of Garden Grove, said Chino Mayor Bob McLeod.

Based on population, Santa Ana will be eligible to seat two members on the authority. Its officials are expected to attend the Feb. 19 session.

The authority's program of conducting a multiphase airport study under a contract with the Chino Hills Airport Complex, Inc., received a setback recently when the consulting firm selected to make the survey withdrew because of a possible conflict of interest.

The firm of Daniel, Mann, Johnson and Mendenhall of Los Angeles had determined in a previous study for Caltrans the need for an airport was in northeast Orange County, said McLeod.

"Under our criteria, we were asking the firm to determine the area where an airport should be located in San Bernardino, Orange and Riverside counties," he added.

"The firm felt it might be prejudiced based on its previous recommendations."

McLeod noted, however, that some firms selected to make up the consulting team may continue with a new firm yet to be selected.

The airport study, expected to cost $750,000, was scheduled to begin early this year. Officials hoped to receive two-thirds the amount from the federal government.

Some confusion, however, has developed over the study qualifying for these funds, said McLeod. "The Federal Aviation Administration's regional office in San Francisco says we are eligible for the funds while the district office in Los Angeles gives the opinion we are not eligible."

McLeod said a determination will be made when the formal application is filed.

The study will be limited to southern San Bernardino County, western Riverside County and all of Orange County, said officials. Both existing airports and new sites will be examined. The survey is expected to be completed within two years.

High school fire on playing field said incendiary

Fire officials suspect arson in a fire Thursday morning in the portable athletic jump pit at Pomona High School.

The blaze started at 10:43 a.m. Thursday on the east side of the bleachers and south of the football field. The pit is the foam rubber cushion that students fall onto after pole vaults and high jumps.

Firemen continue investigation of the matter with Pomona High School administrators today. Approximately seven students were seen in the bleacher area before the incident.

School board candidate sees big issue as tenure vs. strike

Teachers' tenure is preferable to the teachers' right to strike, says Mary Ellen Kilsby, who is seeking another four years on the Claremont school board in the March 4 election.

Mrs. Kilsby, mother of four, thinks that teachers will give up their tenure rights in order to obtain the right to strike and believes it will be an issue in the election.

She said that tenure has the district in a bind, and if it were eliminated the board would have greater freedom in building a staff.

"If I had my choice, though," she said, "I would go for tenure because the right to strike may become detrimental to the district, in that some teachers would use students."

She stressed that if the legislature passes a right to strike law, the school board must work hard at negotiations in good faith.

Mrs. Kilsby said she thought the Claremont school board has been "financially responsible. I have heard no disagreement among the candidates that we don't need the proposed $1 tax increase over the next three years."

She said she believes that "with what resources we have we're doing a good job."

Mrs. Kilsby thinks the students on the traditional schedule at Claremont High are doing a better job because they have made a choice to be on that schedule.

She also thinks that the module schedule will be a big campaign issue. "Doing away with it would be a very grave mistake," she said, "because the students on it are doing a good job."

Mrs. Kilsby has been active in community, school, and church activities since she and husband, Bud, an executive for the tube supply division at Fluor Corp., moved to Claremont.

tions to review the plans and get their consent for the land use.

"I then plan to hand carry the application to the state Department of Parks and Recreation and seek to have it included in the 1975-76 budget. The people have waited long enough."

Once funding is obtained then work on the bike system could start immediately, said local officials. The project would take about six months to complete.

The proposed trail would utilize service roads along San Jose, Thompson and Marshall Creeks. It would also ex-

Police probe shootings that hurt 3

Chino police this morning were attempting to link an incident between Chino and Pomona youths Tuesday to two shooting incidents in Chino Wednesday that left three persons wounded.

The investigation into the shootings began Wednesday afternoon after a pickup truck containing a driver and four or five juvenile passengers drove by D and Fourth streets where one of the victims, Antonio Martinez Sanchez, 20, of 13297 Third St., Chino was walking.

Sanchez, who suffered a gunshot wound of the right knee cap, said he saw the truck drive by and a youth spring up from its bed and open fire with a rifle. Wounded in the knee, Sanchez was treated at Chino General Hospital and later released.

Ten minutes later, the second shooting incident took place in front of 13209 Monte Vista Ave. The same pickup truck drove by, and one of the passengers opened fire on Timothy Martinez, 15, of the Monte Vista Avenue address, and a friend who had just driven him home, Mario Anthony Oroscio, 15, of Chino. Martinez was wounded in the leg and Oroscio was hit in the shoulder.

Both this morning were listed in satisfactory condition at the Chino General Hospital. Oroscio suffered a broken shoulder blade.

Police believe the shootings are gang-related and were in retaliation to earlier incidents between Chino and Pomona youth gangs.

Chino officers were checking on a report that the victims of the shootings in Chino had had an earlier quarrel with several other men in Pomona following funeral services for a 17-year-old Chino High School student who was killed in a traffic accident in Chino Saturday.

School district to hold first parent-involvement session

The Parent Involvement staff of Pomona school district's federally funded Emergency School Aid Act (ESAA) project has scheduled the first in a series of community service workshops Saturday.

It will be held in the multi-purpose room at Fremont Junior High School beginning with registration at 8:30 a.m. Coffee and Mexican sweet bread will be served.

The workshop session will begin at 9 a.m. and last until noon. Free baby sitting will be provided at the school.

All community residents are encouraged to attend and learn of the new program.

"Don't Bother Me, I Can't Cope" is the title of the workshop. It will feature speakers from various community service agencies.

The purpose of the Parent Involvement series is to inform parents of the agencies and community services available in Pomona, and to acquaint them with staff members and resources that are here.

Dixieland session for members only

The 13th birthday party of the Society for the Preservation of Dixieland Jazz, to be held at the Pomona Elks Lodge at 2 p.m. Sunday, is open only to members, not to the public as was previously announced.

Memberships can be purchased at the door for $5 a single and $2.50 for each additional family member.

tend across La Verne and Claremont on the future Foothill Freeway alignment and across south Pomona to Chino along Philadelphia Street.

Bike riders could go to such points as the Phillips Ranch, Cal Poly, Mt. San Antonio College, Los Angeles County Fairgrounds, Bonelli Park and an open area in north Claremont.

Both federal and local funds would be used to pave roads along designated flood control channels, landscaping, installation of signs and painting bike trail striping on some city streets.

Area man accused of killing hitchhiker in San Diego

Richard Arnold Barnes, 20, of 1627 Lake St., Ontario, faces a Feb. 18 preliminary hearing in San Diego Municipal Court on a charge of murder in connection with the death of a hitchhiker in San Diego on Jan. 16.

Barnes' hearing date was set Wednesday during his arraignment in the San Diego court. He was arrested Tuesday at the San Diego Police Department after coming in with a representative of his attorney, George Porter of Ontario.

Barnes, according to the San Diego Police Department, is accused of murdering Stanley Slavick, 20, of San Diego. Slavick was found critically wounded on a San Diego street on Jan. 16 after a car, reportedly registered to Barnes, crashed into several other cars. According to police witnesses, the driver of the car threw Slavick onto the street and fled moments after the accident.

According to police, Slavick was still alive when taken to a nearby hospital and talked to officers before he died. Police had no comment on what was said by the victim. Police said Slavick was hitchhiking to San Diego from National City.

Several San Diego police officers last week questioned the suspect's wife in Ontario and later took her to San Diego. Police reported taking a toy police badge and a pair of handcuffs into evidence in the case.

Opinion

'In God we trust,'
not government

Americans' trust in their government, which has been deteriorating since 1964, seems to have bottomed out in the past year.

So reports the Center for Political Studies of the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research.

Among the Center's recent findings:

—There was a slight increase in the low level of trust just after Richard Nixon resigned the presidency, but the slight spurt in trust disappeared following President Ford's pardoning of Nixon. Some 76 per cent of the people questioned thought that the pardon was a mistake.

—Republicans and Democrats are about equal in their disillusionment with government. Specifically, 49 per cent of Republicans and 51 per cent of Democrats express distrust.

However, even those people who still have a high level of political trust are becoming increasingly cynical about how the government is handling the worsening problems of inflation and unemployment.

"Clearly," says Arthur Miller of the Center, "American citizens expect the government to assist them in solving their problems — particularly economic problems." But combined with severe and prolonged economic troubles, it makes people's faith in the government's ability to handle any kind of problem just about nonexistent.

This present lack of popular confidence is preventing President Ford from being able to convince the nation that his policies will benefit the economy. Only until and if the government adopts policies that are successful in halting inflation and holding off recession, says Miller, would he expect confidence in government to begin to rise.

UN review

The United Nations evokes strong emotions in many people. It is the answer to mankind's salvation. It is a farce and delusion. There are a thousand way stops in between people's attitudes.

The United States is beginning to turn off on the UN with a vengeance. This country, which has one vote in the UN, has 212 million people, more than the combined population of the 77 smallest nations in the UN, each of which has one vote, too. There are 138 nations in the UN General Assembly.

You can also measure industrial output per nation, per nation support of UN activities, and in almost any other way and the U.S. is always in the forefront.

Now we have what U.S. Ambassador John A. Scali has termed the "Tyranny of the majority" in the UN. The so-called third world, with politically motivated assistance, has applauded and cloaked the Palestinian Liberation Organization in respectability — one year after condemning the group for its terrorist ways. They have tried to kick South Africa and Cambodia out and have denied UNESCO aid to Israel even though Israel gives UNESCO a couple of tons more money for its operations than it receives.

If the UN, which has proved itself economically and militarily impotent, wishes to cast aside the fundamental principles on which it was based, then maybe this nation should take a long, long look at whether we can survive better through a series of alliances and detentes than by participating in an idiot operation and paying a high percentage of its costs.

Word to the wise

"The coming generation faces the problem of the exhaustion of its domestic oil sources."

According to Julian Sears, administrator of the U.S. Geological Survey, the United States controlled only 18 per cent of the world's supply and was becoming increasingly dependent on foreign sources.

The gentleman has long since departed the scene. He issued his prediction more than 50 years ago, in 1924.

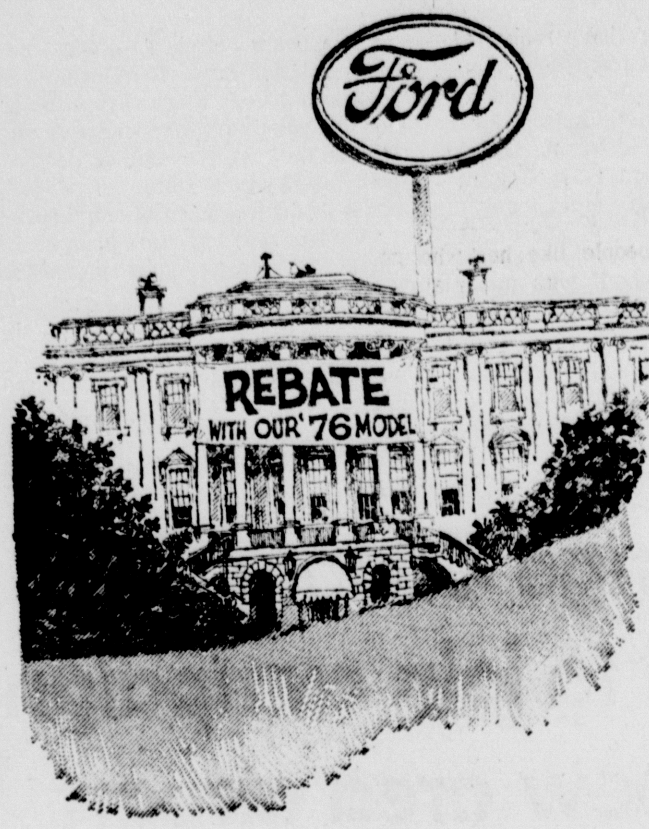

It would be comforting to think that our modern Cassandras were as equally guilty of overstatement. Unfortunately, Mr. Sears was not wrong, only somewhat premature.

Thoughts for today

"Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and will not be afraid; for the Lord God is my strength and my song, and he has become my salvation." — Isaiah 12:2.

"This is what I found out about religion; it gives you courage to make the decisions you must make in a crisis and the confidence to leave the results to a higher Power. Only by trust in God can a man carrying responsibility find repose." — Dwight D. Eisenhower, 34th U.S. president.

THE PUBLIC FORUM

Teachers forced to leave classes

Prices escalate and public indignation flares. These costs are nil compared to the astronomical state and federal taxpayer funds that are poured yearly into hundreds of school systems. A few programs are needed and wisely used. Others, such as professional development centers (P.D.C.), are wasting thousands of our tax dollars. This plan was vetoed by Governor Reagan, but railroaded through by the legislature.

All teachers from many schools, regardless of how highly trained and experienced, are being forced to leave their regular classes for four-week sessions, with no consideration given to the disruption and confusion of their students, the interruption in the teachers' plans for the year, & with continuity toward the fulfillment of their year's goals destroyed.

Costly substitute teachers are hired, and there are often substitutes for substitutes, regardless of their ability, these changes often foster feelings of insecurity in our younger children and rebellion within older groups. Teachers belong in their classrooms!

Following these sessions, frank teachers and authorities admit the majority of ineffective teachers continue to be ineffective and the efficient, as before, do their utmost for all students regardless of economic or racial backgrounds.

Public support for local tax increases and overrides is desperately needed to assist schools who receive nothing from the gravy train. We all must vote for their survival.

To call a halt to continued senseless state and federal spending taxpayers must send cards or letters to legislators, the governor and President Ford. Everyone counts! —Letter signed by 17 residents of Claremont and Pomona.

JACK ANDERSON

Auto repairs, drugs and roaches

WASHINGTON — The big auto makers are trying to make up some of their sales losses by jacking up the prices of replacement parts because auto owners are repairing their old cars rather than buying new models.

We have had access to a private industry study, which predicts the repair boom will bring in an extra $8 billion by 1980. The motorists' repair bills, according to the study, will soar from $35 billion to $43 billion.

The rush of motorists to repair shops began about four months ago. The shops are now raking in the money at a rate 12 per cent higher than in past years.

The auto manufacturers are trying to squeeze more profit out of the repair business, therefore, by raising prices on captive parts, such as fenders, door and grills.

Where there is market competition — for such items as spark plugs, light bulbs and batteries — the prices are holding better.

The dealers also charge independent shops more for captive parts than the dealers pay themselves. An intricate rebate system has been designed to benefit the dealers at the expense of their customers.

Some insurance companies are also ripping off their policyholders by sending them to inferior garages, known in the industry as "enforcer shops," for accident repairs. These do a shoddy job but keep down the cost to the insurance companies.

For example, some shops replace modern "super shock absorber" glass, now standard equipment in most new cars, with cheaper, old-style glass, which is far less safe.

Tests by the Society of Automotive Engineers show the modern glass crumbles into rice-sized bits instead of breaking into jagged missiles.

But the cheaper glass saves the insurance companies money at the expense of their clients' safety.

'EMBARRASSING SITUATION': We recently reported after a two-month investigation that the Drug Enforcement Administration's top command has been virtually paralyzed by dissension.

We cited investigations which we charged had been held over the heads of top officials as a "management tool" to keep them in line.

Our findings have been confirmed by a confidential management study, which found that the unresolved investigations leave "the agency in an embarrassing situation" and the victims in "a very uncertain and very vulnerable position."

An estimated 25 per cent of the closed cases, according to the study, were "closed on the basis of investigations that were judged to be incomplete." Yet "nearly all of these incomplete investigations involved serious allegations."

Among the unresolved charges against DEA officials and agents are these: the murder of a confidential informant, sale of narcotics, loss of $2,500 in seized funds, continual intoxication and illegal possession of firearms.

And this is not to mention all the open investigations, which have increased dramatically. "The backlog of cases," states the confidential report, "has grown 60 per cent in two years."

The purpose of the investigations is to make sure drug enforcement people are so clean they can't be blackmailed. Yet the open investigations themselves leave the subjects "extremely vulnerable to extortion," alleges the document.

"The existence of an open investigation," the report adds, "often inflicts a penalty on the subject . . . regardless of its outcome."

The management team, headed by Harvard University's Dr. Mark Moore, strongly urged that the investigations be conducted according to the book, with presumption of innocence and no undue disclosures.

The team was dismayed to find that one high official learned he was under investigation "as the result of a piece of paper being left on a Xerox machine."

Part of the problem, the team found, was that DEA's inspection office has "no system for assigning priorities to investigations." So the inspectors took off on "expensive distractions" instead of concentrating on "more productive activities."

For example, an investigation of DEA public affairs chief Vince Promuto, the report claims, "resulted in postponement of regional inspection scheduled for August and September." The Promuto investigation, in the opinion of narcotics chief John Bartels, is part of an internal power struggle.

The regional reports, meanwhile "often focused on the wrong issues . . . (and) ignore important issues," the study found.

Bartels told us the study was one of a series which he plans to use as a guide for shaking up the DEA.

WATCH ON WASTE: The armed services spend $22 million on cockroach control. To save a few dollars, the Army had just abolished its two-man cockroach research program at the U.S. Army labs in Natick, Mass.

This leaves the Army without a research program for combating cockroaches, which carry 40 different bacteria and inhabit everything from helicopters to field kitchens.

The two-man Natick team was just making progress with new chemical and ultraviolet ray techniques for controlling cockroaches when the cutback occurred.

Just in jest

One thing we do best here in America is to make possible effortless accomplishment. If, for instance, a person is overweight, wants to reduce, but just can't force himself to put up with the inconvenience, mess and fuss of eating half a grapefruit at every meal, that's no reason for giving up and letting the fat accumulate.

A drug company has now perfected a grapefruit reducing pill. —But if swallowing grapefruit pills is too much of a bother, the would be reducer need not despair. According to the caption on a recent magazine advertisement, it is now possible to "THINK YOURSELF THIN." —However, I have some doubts about the popularity of this letter method. After all, thinking for many of us is mighty strenuous exercise.

According to the law of inevitability, whenever a crowd gathers there's bound to be a politician on hand waiting for the first good opportunity to make a speech.

Also, it is another political inevitability that the minute a candidate assumes office, the criticism begins. In the case of Governor Brown, he was immediately taken to task because he wore a dead-white shirt for his TV inaugural.

"You'd think he would know it is blue that photographs best on television," his critics complained.

RONALD REAGAN

Consumer pros
keep popping up

When you were young did you ever have the experience of trying to carry a basket of kittens? One would pop its head up and try to crawl over the side of the basket, and while you were pushing him back down another would pop up on the other side of the basket. Soon, there were more heads than you had hands.

Proposed government programs can be like that. Legislation is introduced in Congress by those who think all answers must come from government. When the worst of it is defeated, we have a tendency to relax and think, "Well, that's that."

Just like those kittens' heads, though, the bills keep popping up until they're passed.

Take the so-called Consumer Protection Agency Act. Had it passed last year, it would have resulted in the creation of a big, new federal bureau, with the power to supersede all other government agencies, plus the power to take records and trade secrets from businesses large and small and make them public.

The bill drew strong opposition on Capitol Hill from those who fear Big Brother government and who resent the self-styled "consumerists" promoting the notion that people are too dumb to buy a box of corn flakes without being cheated, but are smart enough to choose protectors in government to run their lives for them. The professional consumerists are, in reality, elitists who think they know better than you do what's good for you.

They fought hard for this bill accusing opponents of being against any kind of consumer protection, which, of course, wasn't true.

The bill's opponents decided to filibuster it. The filibuster is a parliamentary tradition in the U.S. Senate. It's the process of taking and holding the floor for debate until you've talked a bill to death.

Traditionally, those on the other side may try three times to vote for "cloture"—that is, to cut off debate and end the filibuster. But in the case of the Consumer Protection Agency Act, cloture had to be beaten back not three, but four times.

Don't start a celebration, though. Like the basket of kittens, this one will pop up again soon, maybe under a new title, or even as an amendment to some necessary piece of legislation that everyone supports.

It's a shame Congress will have to go round and round again over this nonsense—and the bill was nonsense. Worse, it was as big a threat to our free economy as anything that's been proposed. Congress has the authority to change policies governing the practices of federal departments and agencies which have responsibility for protecting consumers. If there are shortcomings in those agencies, Congress can correct them. To create a competing, overlapping new agency instead is just plain irresponsible.

Take an analogy: If you owned a store and found that one of its departments was below par, you would consider changing management policy, personnel or prices, but you certainly wouldn't try to solve the problem by opening a store across the street to compete with yourself.

Yet, that's what the promoters of the Consumer Protection Agency would have Congress do.

You should keep pen and paper handy to write your congressman, because it will soon be time again to push the kittens back in the basket.

Buyer right, store wrong --no tax on fruit trees

It is my understanding that all products for food consumption by people are exempt from sales tax in California. I buy grain seeds, garden plants, vegetable garden seeds and fruit trees at nurseries and feed stores. They don't charge me sales tax.

But when I bought two fruit trees at a department store, the salesman charged me sales tax.

When I objected, he consulted his manager. The manager told the salesman all nursery plants and garden seeds were taxable although the fruits or vegetables the plants produce were not.

The 47 cents didn't break me nor will it the next time I buy garden seeds or fruit trees.

On the other hand, it is embarrassing to call this situation to a salesman's attention and be overruled because he and his manager don't know their jobs.

I think a store should be aware of which items are taxable and which are exempted.

The consumer next in line at the check stand bought 10 fruit trees, paying tax on them. He looked at me as if to say, "You d-- fool." — B. S., Chino.

A representative of the State Board of Equalization says you were right and the salesman and manager were wrong.

Flowering plants, decorative shrubs, etc., are taxable unless they are sold to provide food. Remember when Piper Laurie's press agent claimed she ate gardenias to keep her complexion flawless?

Among products which are taxable are carbonated drinks and distillers spirits.

If you have another experience like the one you described, just look at the customer next to you as if to say: "It's none of your d-- business."

I went to an optometrist's to get new glasses. Although I wanted dark tinted glasses, I was told I would have to buy a pair of sunglasses in addition to the regular ones. I ordered a pair when I picked up my new glasses.

I put a $30 deposit on the sunglasses and asked that the order be rushed. This was five months ago.

My wife and I called several times asking if they were ready but kept getting a negative reply.

But when my wife asked for a refund last month she was told I had been sent a notice in July that the glasses were in.

I never received any such notice.

As my wife and I had made an honest effort to get the glasses, I feel it must have been a mistake in the office.

I just want my $30 as I feel I am definitely entitled to it. — D. C., Ontario.

Your optometrist said his records told details of the sequence of events a little differently.

He also said that the notice sent out was not returned and the sunglasses had been at the office all this time.

Nevertheless, he offered a discount on your bill, part of which hasn't been paid.

You have accepted his offer.

At that time we had the matter solved. Publix said a new three-year subscription had been entered in my name for the magazine I had previously ordered but had not received.

I still didn't get the magazine. Recently I wrote to the publisher. I was then informed that my order had never been received from Publix. — Z.C., Chino.

No Guts doesn't want to make waves but wishes 'friend' would stay home

Dear Ann Landers: I don't expect you to print my letter, but just writing it will be marvelous therapy for me. It's to my "friend," and to all the people like her who confuse "friendship" with just plain cloddishness, or to put it bluntly, unbelievable guts.

Dear You Know Who You Are: When I answered the door wearing rubber gloves with a toilet brush in my hand, you asked if I was busy. I said yes, but you walked in anyway and chirped, "Put some coffee on, will you? My maid is cleaning from top to bottom today and I can't stand the way she does things. She makes me nervous."

Then as you drank my coffee (which you pronounced "too weak"), you informed me that my walls should be painted a darker color because "the dirt shows." You also told me I should have bought "better" carpeting because the cheap stuff looks O.K. in the store, but after a few months it "mats."

Then you told me I look so much better with makeup I should NEVER be without it. (To clean toilets!!!!)

Stay in your own house, "friend." I'd tell you to your face, but I haven't got the guts. Besides, our husbands are golf buddies and I don't want to make waves. So please go somewhere else if your maid makes you nervous. You make ME sick. — Had It

Dear Had: Here's your letter, and you'd better expect "waves" because the details are unmistakable. "Friend" will certainly know you mean her.

I cheerfully accept the blame or the thanks — for whatever happens after this letter appears in print — and I hope you are prepared for the consequences.

Dear Ann Landers: Ten months ago, my husband told me he was leaving me and our three children for another woman. I said, "All right, Jim, if that's what you want, go ahead."

Four days later he came back home, said he loved only me, and begged to be forgiven. I agreed, provided he behaved himself. He swore he would.

The following week, the little tramp (twice divorced by husbands who caught her in adultery) tried to kill herself. Jim became panicky and moved back with her.

Our children have started to suck their thumbs and wet their beds. They have nightmares regularly. I am a nervous wreck. Jim says he wants to come home but if he leaves the tramp again she will kill herself and it will be on his conscience forever. Please help me. — Nyack, N.Y.

Dear Nyack: What conscience? Tell "Bullfeathers" he owes you and his children more than he owes the tramp. If he refuses to come home where he belongs, see a lawyer and make it legal.

Dear Ann Landers: That "New-Look Bride" who plans to Xerox her thank-you notes and distribute them at her wedding (rolled up and tied with a yellow ribbon) was enough to make me write my first letter to a newspaper.

Too bad the unsuspecting guests don't have access to a crystal ball. They could then present the clod with a rolled-up message tied with a red ribbon saying, "Since you will be too busy to write me a thank-you note I will be too busy to shop for you. So let's just shake hands and say, 'Congratulations.'" Sign me — Glad I'm Not Invited

Dear Dear: You and at least 500 others.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious — lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers's booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Saturday, Jan. 25

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Most pressures today will come from family-related matters. They can be lessened if you keep your temper in check.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Measure severity of your words. lest you say some harsh things to a subordinate that will leave a poor, lasting imprint.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Keep your guard up today in all your commercial dealings or you may be the victim of a rip-off. Examine closely any purchases.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Things will not go as smoothly as you hope today. Try not to make your displeasure too visible. Smile even if it hurts.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't resurrect an old, volatile issue on which you and another don't see eye-to-eye. Sparks will fly if you do.

VRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is not a good day to become too involved with friends financially or businesswise. Keep your social interests apart.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Try not to set goals for yourself today beyond your reach. It will only frustrate you if they aren't attained.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll run into considerable resistance if you try to impose your views on others. Allow all to think for themselves.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) An old problem will make its presence felt again in an area where you share a vested interest. Be wary.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Decisions, based on spiteful motivations or the desire to get even with one you've felt has wronged you, will backfire.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It's wonderful to be co-operative and to help others, but don't be a patsy and let another pawn her tasks off on you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Someone you'll be meeting socially will come on quite impressively. If you'll look closely you'll see this person is mostly facade.

Your Birthday

Jan. 25, 1975

You will set tougher targets this year where your work or career is concerned. Pitfalls will have to be overcome. However, it will be worth the effort once you grasp the golden ring.

DOCTOR COMMENTS

Hiatial hernias can be managed

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — After being "treated for a duodenal ulcer for nine years my doctor tells me my X rays show no scarring from ulcers but I do have a hiatal hernia. Are they so similar in symptoms and discomfort?

DEAR READER — You don't have to have a scar that you can see on an X-ray after you have had an ulcer. So the presence of a hiatal hernia now doesn't mean you may not have had an ulcer.

Not everyone with a hiatal hernia has symptoms. Many people with hiatal hernias don't even know they have the problem. Most of the symptoms are caused by the acid digestive juice in the stomach leaking or being squirted back into the lower esophagus. This acid juice can burn the lower esophagus and cause the burning pain in the pit of the stomach just at the lower tip of the breastbone that patients complain about.

The same acid digestive juice produced in excess quantity and squirted out into the duodenum can cause an ulcer there. So, in fact, the acid digestive juice can cause an ulcer in the duodenum, with burning and pain, or it can cause irritation and even an ulcer in the lower esophagus in relation to a hiatal hernia.

Our bodies are not so good at presenting black and white and "either-or" situation. The pain and location of an irritated lower esophagus or the duodenum are not so specific that you can always be sure which is the problem or for that matter if both conditions are present at the same time.

There is a lot you need to know about the management of a hiatal hernia. Small frequent meals are important, as well as what you eat, rules about clothing, sleeping, and exercise.

Part of the treatment of both ulcers and hiatal hernia symptoms are the same. Since symptoms from both problems are largely caused by the acid digestive juice formed by the stomach, it is important to neutralize stomach acid. The antacids used for this purpose work equally well for both conditions.

Medicine is sometimes used to block the nerves to the stomach to prevent it from forming so much acid. These are very good for most cases of ulcers. Their use is questionable in the treatment of hiatal hernia symptoms. They may delay the emptying of the stomach allowing the stomach contents to leak back into the lower esophagus.

Actually these medicines may not be all bad in hiatal hernia, if they effectively decrease the amount of acid produced by the stomach, even if they do delay stomach emptying.

The stomach itself is protected from the digestive action of its own juices by a thick mucus material over its lining. The duodenum and esophagus don't have this protection and that is why the acid digestive juices irritate or ulcerate them.

For more information on these items write to me in care of the Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. and ask for the booklet on hiatal hernia. Send 50 cents to cover costs.

Can men's legs be called pretty?

Since Joe Namath started modeling pantyhose, questions arise as to whether any men really do have beautiful legs. Certainly, certainly. Such was proved sometime back in Goulburn, New South Wales, Australia. A fellow named Frederick Newling entered a beautiful-legs contest against numerous girls. He won.

MANY an early wooden bathtub was fitted with a shelf across the middle to hold food and drink. Oval in shape, said tub was designed so two people could face each other over that shelf, and dine. The practice was practical. To get the maximum out of a minimum of hot water. But it fell out of favor when Queen Victoria moved the morality of the western world.

FOOTBALL

Football spectators hereabouts are pretty enthusiastic all right. But they're not as wild as those South American soccer audiences. To protect one particularly popular player named Maracano, the builders of the big field in Rio de Janeiro put a nine-foot moat around it.

Q. "HOW LONG does it take to make a billiard ball?"

A. No doubt you mean a superior ball. Depends. They're baked in ovens. A cue ball, seven days. A solid, a little longer. A stripe, 15 days.

ONE OUT OF EVERY seven birds is some kind of finch. Finches live all over. Except in Australia. Aren't any there. I don't know why. Some birds in Australia are called finches, but that's wrong.

WEDDING CAKE

If the bride and groom in old England wanted good luck, they were supposed to kiss while standing on opposite sides of a low table loaded down with spiced buns. Trouble was one or the other usually knocked the buns on the floor when leaning forward. Not only that, somebody generally swiped a few buns before the ceremony. So a cunning chef took it upon himself to ice them all together in one solid mass. That's how the wedding cake got started.

IT WAS NO more than 63 years ago that U.S. Secretary of State Philander Knox rarely returned to his office after lunch, saying, "There's just not enough work to do to occupy the Secretary's entire day."

Violets: historic beauty

The scene was Usumbara, North East Tanganyika, Territory of Est Africa, prior to the turn of the century.

It was there that Baron Walter von Saint Paul, a vanilla and India-rubber plantation owner, discovered a delightful little plant which grew in wooded places and in fissures of limestone rocks. They thrived on quantities of decaying vegetable matter—humus.

These little plants are the ancestor of one of the most popular modern day house plants variously known as the African Violet or Saintpaulia, in honor of the Baron.

Since 1893, when it first flowered in Europe, there have been breathtaking changes taking place in the "blue" violet. Nurseries, today, offer white, various shades of pink, lavender, blue and deep purple hues, as well as interesting bi-colors. The forms of the violet like flowers have become ruffled, semi-double, double, as well as single, star-shaped and fringed.

African Violets can be taken for instant enjoyment. They can remain in the same pot for some time. When you do re-pot, use a properly treated soil mix from the nursery. It will have the proper amount of humus, sand and vital ingredients. The nursery will also have plant food designed to fill the needs of African Violets. A good rule of thumb is to feed monthly in spring, summer and fall—and not feed in winter. Be sure the soil is moist before you fertilize, stresses the California Association of Nurserymen.

Location of the plants in your home is all important.

Place your African Violets where they get as much light as possible—for as long as possible during the day—but no direct sun through a window. There should be good circulation of air, but the plants shouldn't receive direct air from heaters or air conditioners.

Hobbyists have differences of opinion on how to water African Violets. Some say you water from the top of the container while others only water from the bottom (pouring water in the saucer beneath the plant, where it is soaked up into the pot). Whichever method is used—it is important to use water that is a room temperature.

Gardener's checklist

Plant a deciduous Magnolia now for a sudden and spectacular burst of bloom when the weather starts to warm. Nurseries have a choice of varieties—each is magnificent in flower, and in a landscape setting.

Watch roses for signs that buds are beginning to swell. When they do, sharpen the pruning clippers and go to work.

For do-it-yourselfers, the perennial vegetables—asparagus, artichokes and rhubarb—are available at nurseries and the divisions, or roots, are easy to set out in the garden. Home-grown vegetables have taste appeal that is hard to equal.

Violas and Pansies can still be set out over a bulb bed. For an early spring border in shaded areas, use Fairy Primroses—in white, pink or lavender.

Sweet peas may be planted now from seed. They prefer an early start, so they may germinate while the weather is still cool.

Q and A on sheet vs. tile composition floors

Inflation and its toll on the family budget — this is the toughest problem confronting Americans today.

The need for extra mileage out of every dollar has inspired many of us to do things for ourselves that normally we would pay others to do. Fortunately, more and better do-it-yourself products are available to help with the job.

Resilient flooring is a case in point. Not long ago most floors required professional installation and many still do. But now there's an ample selection of materials that the homeowner can install himself and pocket the labor savings.

Experts at Armstrong have compiled some useful information for anyone considering a do-it-yourself floor project. Here are answers to questions that consumers ask most about these floors:

Q. What materials are available to the do-it-yourselfer?

A. You can select from two types: tiles or do-it-yourself sheet materials.

OZQ. What's the difference? Tiles come in 12" squares, while sheet flooring is manufactured in continued rolls 12 feet wide. Each type has its advantages.

Q. What are the advantages?

A. Tile is the easiest to install since you're working with relatively small pieces. The place and press variety even comes with its own adhesive pre-applied to the back. To install, just peel off the protective paper backing, position the tile on the floor, and press.

Sheet flooring is a bit more involved from an installation standpoint, but it does offer the advantages of seamless in rooms 12 feet wide or less; so there is no possibility that water or dirt can penetrate the surface. Sheet material comes with either a vinyl wear surface or the new Mirabond no-wax surface. Both types have an inner core of foam cushioning for added resiliency.

Q. How are sheet floors installed?

A. No-wax and vinyl sheet materials often can be installed by the "loose lay" method. That is, the flooring material is simply cut to room size and put down without adhesive. This method is a real boon to renters who may not be permitted to make a permanent installation or who wish to take the floor with them when they move.

Sometimes sheet materials require spreading of adhesive before installation depending on prevailing temperature and humidity conditions. This varies from area to area, so it's best to ask a local dealer for advice.

Q. Where can do-it-yourself floors be installed?

LOOSE LAID SHEET FLOORING

A. Anywhere in the house — upstairs, downstairs, over ground-level concrete slabs, even in basements. Unlike old-fashioned linoleum, modern resilient floors have moisture-resistant backs. The only place where they're not recommended is in areas where the concrete subfloor is constantly wet, and has no chance to dry out.

Q. What steps are involved in preparing the surface to be covered?

A. For the best installation, the old surface should be smooth, clean, dry and completely free of wax, grease and dirt. Floor adhesives will not bond readily to floors that are dirty, rough, oily, or excessively cold.

Q. Can do-it-yourself floors be installed over old floors?

A. Yes, they can be installed over concrete, wood, terrazzo, painted surfaces and existing resilient floors that are smooth and well bonded to the subfloor. They cannot go over deeply embossed or thickly cushioned old resilient floors. Peeling or flaking painted surfaces should be scraped or sanded.

Q. How long will a do-it-yourself floor last?

A. As long as a comparable floor that is professionally installed. The life of any floor depends upon the amount of use it gets. You'll probably want to redecorate long before the material wears out.

Miller is proving he is human after all

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Johnny Miller is human after all and Jack Nicklaus is a bit away from playing his best, so today guys by the name of Hubert Green and Larry Ziegler are the leaders, at least for a day, in the $185,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am.

Green and Ziegler are by no means unknown on the PGA Tour. But the way Miller has been dominating play over the last 14 months, it's hard to notice anyone except perhaps Nicklaus.

Miller won everything in sight last year, including Player of the Year, and followed by taking the Phoenix and Tucson Opens the last two weeks to launch the 1975 Tour. It wasn't so much that he won but the way he won — by 14 strokes at Phoenix and nine at Tucson — that put Miller up front and relegated everyone else to also ran status.

With Nicklaus making his 1975 debut this week, the feeling was — and still is for that matter — that Jack and Johnny will be coming down the last few holes on Sunday at Pebble Beach fighting for the Crosby title.

Miller had eight straight rounds this year under 70 and then he opened at Cypress Point Thursday with a one under 71. The way some of the others in the 168-man field were playing, a 71 didn't look bad at all, but to Miller it was a little deflating. Nicklaus also opened with a 71 at Cypress and said it was about what he expected for his first round of the year.

Still, the two superstars start today at Spyglass Hill, a course Nicklaus doesn't like at all, five shots behind Green and Ziegler. Green won four titles last year and more than $200,000 while Ziegler placed 27th on the money list with almost $80,000 but 1974 belonged to Miller and it was hard to notice what others were doing, except for Gary Player, who won the Masters, Lee Trevino, who took the PGA Championship, and Hale Irwin, who won the U.S. Open.

Green had seven birdies and one bogey on his round of 32-34 at Cypress while Ziegler had seven birdies and no bogies on his card of 32-34 at Spyglass, which tied the course record.

Green said he didn't mind at all that Miller and Nicklaus were getting the attention because in his mind they are the stars of the Tour and deserve whatever they get.

"Without them," said Green, "no one would be out here to watch the rest of us. The Tour always needs its stars — and the also rans as well. That's not to say some of us don't feel we can win. We have in the past and we will again. It's just that Jack and John right now are the ones everyone wants to see."

Ziegler, one of the nicest players on the Tour whose even temper in victory or defeat should be a model for youngsters coming up the ranks, said he played well because he had the fortune to open at Spyglass.

"I always shoot well on that course," he said. "It's one of my all-time favorites."

Miller said he was pleased nevertheless with his round because of a strong recovery from the 13th through 18th holes. He made a 20-foot birdy putt on 13, a 15 footer on 15 and a three footer on 18.

"I didn't play as bad as my score indicates," he said. "My irons weren't as strong a part of my game as they were in Arizona, but the courses here are a lot tougher. For a while there it looked like I was heading for 75 or 76 but I got my game together in time."

Nicklaus said he was excited because it was his first event of the year.

"I'm always a little up for the first one," said the man who has won 14 major titles. "I putted pretty good (he took 37 putts in all) but I missed a few easy ones. That will all come around a little later. My schedule is to play as well as I can with the Big Ones my goal for the year."

Lost in the shuffle were fine 68s by Gene Littler, Ross Randall and Andy North and 69s by Cesar Sanudo, Tom Watson and Jerry McGee, plus 70s by Kermit Zarley and Tom Kite.

There were 13 players tied with Miller and Nicklaus at 71, so only 25 players managed to break par on the three seaside courses despite summer-like weather.

Two players who didn't get off to good starts were Jerry Heard, who was second to Miller in Phoenix, and John Mahaffey, who was second to Miller in Tucson. Heard had a 75 at Cypress and Mahaffey a 76 at Pebble Beach.

Bonita's Drake can do anything

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

Harold (H.P.) Drake made plenty of waves for his opponents during football season. Now he's doing the same in basketball. And when the cage season is over, he'll probably be doing the same in baseball.

"What can I say about Harold that hasn't already been said," exclaimed his basketball coach at Bonita High, Remi Tremblay. "We think he's the best all-around player in the valley."

Drake was the valley's Offensive Player of the Year in football when he quarterbacked the Bearcats to a Hacienda League title. And he looks like a top contender to gain an All-Valley berth in basketball too.

H.P. (Harold Paul), a new identification he picked up last year from his teammates and coach, is currently the valley's leading scorer (22.9) and is second in the Hacienda League scoring (19.4).

He can just about do anything, as Tremblay likes to point out.

"Harold feels he can do anything he wants to," remarked the Bonita athletic director. "He made a believer out of me. Anything he does wouldn't surprise me. We've played him at almost every position this year, depending on how the other team plays against us. He's a much better player this year as compared to last year."

Last week, Harold scored 49 points in two outings to help Bonita to two victories in the Hacienda League. It kept the Bearcats in a tie for second place behind league-leading Walnut. And for that performance, H.P. was named the Valley High School Player of the Week.

There was apparently some doubt whether Harold was going to play basketball this year. He didn't compete in the summer basketball program, and that's when rumors started to spread.

Then when Harold didn't suit up for the first four basketball games, some people began to wonder if he would play at all. He DID miss a few games because he was still in the CIF football playoffs, but after the grid season was over he still sat out a week.

"I just thought I needed a rest," said the Bonita star. "Some people asked me if I was going out for basketball and I didn't tell them. I just said I was going to take a rest."

Harold was granted a one-week rest period, and then he donned the tennis shoes and made his way to the gym. He hasn't scored yet less than 12 points a game — and that low came just last Wednesday when he played with a sore back and ankle.

"I still like to win," grinned Drake. "I think the spirit from football has carried over into basketball. I think the football season has really helped basketball."

The Bearcats will finish their third week of Hacienda League play tonight when they visit a fairly strong Gladstone club. If the "Cats can pull off a victory tonight, then they'll meet Walnut next Wednesday in probably one of the biggest Hacienda League games of the year.

In other Hacienda action tonight, league-leading Walnut will visit Ontario, Royal Oak hosts Alta Loma, and San Dimas travels to Sierra Vista. All games are scheduled to begin at 8 p.m.

A big game is being played in the San Antonio League tonight, and it's just a couple of days away from the annual titanic between Garey and Ganesha.

Both are leading the league with 5-0 records, but Ganesha's will be challenged tonight when it hosts third-place Damien (4-1).

The Spartans have won four consecutive games, and figure to give Ganesha's "Run-and-Gun Machine" a few problems.

But if the Giants are "on", Damien will have an extremely tough time staying with them.

Meanwhile, No. 1 ranked Garey will be at home punishing Upland tonight. In other SAL competition, Pomona hosts Chino, and Claremont entertains Montclair. All games are slated for 8 p.m. tipoffs.

All three valley teams from the Montclair League will also be in action tonight, with Charter Oak visiting Nogales, and Rowland traveling to Basett.

Chaffey High will be hosting San Geronimo in Citrus Belt League play, while La Verne Lutheran visits CSDR and Webb treks to Big Bear in the Arrowhead League.

Ontario Christian welcomes L.A. Lutheran tonight in the Olympic League, and Western Christian entertains Avalon High of Catalina Island in Academy League competition. All those games are also set for 8 p.m.

Mounties risk 3-0 record

The top two rebounders in the South Coast Conference collide Saturday night when Mt. San Antonio College risks its perfect 3-0 record in a key conference basketball game with Cerritos College in Norwalk.

In other junior college cage action Saturday, Chaffey hosts Citrus in a Mission Conference basketball game. Both dropped conference decisions Wednesday and will be looking to get back in the title picture with a win Saturday. The game is scheduled to start at 8 p.m.

The tip-off is scheduled for 8 p.m. and that's when the action should start for MSAC's Duane Harding and Cerritos' Willie Howard.

Harding and Howard are both freshman centers and they share the lead in South Coast rebounding with 35 apiece in three games for 11.7 averages.

Harding is a 6-foot-6, 240 pounder from Maryland, who is averaging 14 points per game in conference play. Howard, at 6-foot-8, 185, is considered a great leaper. He has little basketball experience but has filled the shoes of graduated all-conference center Al Fruhwirth admirably.

Besides his 11.7 rebounding average, Howard, a Lakewood product, is averaging 21.7 points a game in three South Coast contests to rank third among conference scorers.

The Mounties are in a precarious situation despite their perfect conference record and their impressive season mark of 18-1.

Coach Gene Victor's club faces co-leader and defending champion Santa Ana (19-2) at MSAC next Wednesday. Looking by Cerritos at Santa Ana is a very real prospect, but not a very healthy one.

Cerritos got off to a slow start as the season began, but has since picked up momentum and has won two of three South Coast games. Its only loss was to Santa Ana last week, 85-74.

Cerritos is only 7-12 overall, but that is quite misleading according to Victor. "They've had some trouble getting together," said the veteran Mountie coach. "But they are a good team. They're just now coming into their

Wooden happy with 14-1 record

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Despite having a shot at a perfect season ruined at Stanford last week, Coach John Wooden is pleasantly surprised with his UCLA basketball team.

"I certainly didn't expect to be 14-1 at this point at the beginning of the season," Wooden said after UCLA tuned up for a Saturday afternoon rematch with Notre Dame by thrashing UC Santa Barbara 104-76 at home Thursday night.

"Some of the aspects of our game are better than I had hoped," said Wooden, who lost four starters off last year's Bill Walton-led team. "Some things aren't quite as good as I had hoped, though."

The Bruins, taking advantage of a week off from the Pacific Eight Conference wars, put the outmanned Gauchos away early, going on an 11-0 binge in the first half and taking a 50-30 lead at halftime. The Bruin front line led the way, with Richard Washington scoring 20, Dave Meyers 19 and Marques Johnson 15.

Don Ford paced the Gauchos with 24 points while Dave Brown added 11. UCSB 6-10 center John Service, the team's top rebounder, was badly weakened by the flu and did not score.

"We took ourselves out of the game after four minutes," moaned Gaucho Coach Ralph Barkey. "We had virtually a complete breakdown of our game plan."

Asked to compare the 1975 Bruins with past Wooden teams, Barkey said, "I like this UCLA team better than the Sidney Wicks-Curtis Rowe team (NCAA champions in 1970 and 1971.)

This team has greater depth and balance. They really have people coming in off the bench."

The Bruins, locked in a five-way tie for the Pac-8 lead after losing 64-60 to Stanford Friday night, visit South Bend, Ind., for a nationally televised meeting with the Fighting Irish Saturday. UCLA bounced back from a 19-point deficit to defeat Notre Dame 85-72 at Pauley Pavilion Dec. 21.

Last season, Walton and his teammates had their record 88-game winning streak snapped in South Bend with a 71-70 loss.

"It's just another ballgame for us," Wooden said. "I feel no different going back to South Bend than I did last year when we had the streak on the line. Losing that game didn't bother me as much as it did some of the alumni."

The Bruins, looking for their ninth straight Pac-8 title, host Southern California a week from Saturday.

Cazzie makes Forum debut

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Cazzie Russell will make his first Forum appearance of the regular season tonight when the Los Angeles Lakers host the New Orleans Jazz.

Russell, sidelined the first half of the season with a knee injury, scored 24 points in his first outing Wednesday night. The Lakers lost to Golden State 138-103.

Russell, a sharp-shooting forward who came to the Lakers from the Warriors in an off-season deal, limped visibly in the Golden State game. He said the problem was caused by a weak ankle.

"When my knee was in a cast, my ankle was covered too," he said. "I have some stretched ligaments in the ankle but it will come around. The knee didn't give me any problem."

The Lakers, last place team in the NBA's Pacific Division, trail the division-leading Warriors by 10½ games. Los Angeles has a 17-26 record.

The expansion Jazz is struggling with only five wins in 42 games and are 26 games behind first-place Washington in the Central Division.

Cal Poly, Azusa renew rivalry

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

A good neighborhood basketball rivalry returns tonight when Cal Poly visits Azusa Pacific at the Cougars' Memorial Gym.

The two schools are renewing a series which was halted back in 1968 with Poly entering tonight's game with a slight 5-3 edge.

With a 6-6 season record, Poly has its third chance within two weeks to move above the .500 record for the campaign. In their two previous opportunities to move over the break-even mark, the Broncos were defeated.

Azusa is suffering through a subpar season with only an 8-7 season mark as the defending NAIA District Three champions are struggling.

Both Poly's Don Hogan and APC's Cliff Hamlow are hopeful a good performance this evening will signal some improvement in the future.

The tipoff in Azusa's usually packed gymnasium is 8 p.m. following a 6 p.m. junior varsity game.

"I really don't know what to expect tonight," Hogan said. "But this game should serve as a very good test for us."

Defeating APC on its court is always a difficult task as the Cougars' 123-16 record at home the past 13 years indicates. But Azusa has lost twice this season in five home games.

"I hope the trend continues," Hogan added.

Azusa has been crippled by injuries but Hamlow reports the team should be at near full strength tonight along with the addition of All-America guard Rick Reed, who is currently eligible because of a court ruling.

"What we need is some fighting spirit," Hamlow said. "We're not a real good team right now but we have the capability to get going."

As far as the rare home losses are concerned, Hamlow just says, "We don't like it."

Hogan will start the unit which pulled out to a big lead over Sacramento State Tuesday only to see it cut against the second string in a narrow 59-58 win.

The new Poly lineup has Aaron Hopwood (6-6) at center, Paul Newton (6-4) and Denny Weisse (6-5) at forwards plus Joe Sills (6-3) and Dick Gross (6-2) at guards.

Sills and Newton are Poly's top scoring threats with respective 15.5 and 14.4 averages.

APC has its regular lineup back with the return of forward Mike Leatherby (6-7) and center Keith Walker (6-5) from injuries. The other starters are forward Ken Lukhard (6-5) plus guards Rob Carver (6-2) and Jim Sporleder (6-0).

The Cougars' most impressive statistic is its 49.3 shooting percentage as a team. Lukhard is APC's top scorer with an 18.7 average followed by Walker at 14.5. In his two games, Reed has tallied 31 points.

Globetrotters play in area

SAN BERNARDINO — The Harlem Globetrotters will play here Monday night at the Swing Auditorium on the National Orange Show grounds.

Tickets are $6, $5 and $4 and are on sale at the Orange Show Ticket Agency at 693 S. E. St.

The game here is being sponsored by the Inland Professional Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi.

Colletto takes Fullerton job

FULLERTON — Jim Colletto has been named Cal State Fullerton's third head football coach.

Colletto, 30, has served as the offensive line coach at the University of Pacific the past three seasons. Previously, he coached at UCLA, Brown and Xavier.

He was a captain of UCLA's Rose Bowl team in 1966 and earned All-Coast honors as a defensive end.

Upland takes lead in SAL wrestling

Defending San Antonio League wrestling champion Upland High put another notch in its victory string Thursday with a 40-19 victory over Garey.

The win upped the Highlanders' league record to 2-0, while Garey slipped to 1-1 and 3-4 overall.

In other wrestling action reported Thursday, Montclair thumped Ganesh, 63-9, to even its league record at 1-1.

The Cavaliers are 1-1 overall with only last week's 36-27 loss to Upland blemishing the record.

Claremont edged Chino, 33-28, as Lindsey Brewer turned the momentum in Claremont's favor with a decision over Ron Janacek in the 177-pound class. Claremont and Chino are both 1-1 in league competition.

Top wrestlers staying unbeaten in league action Thursday were Randy Dexter of Garey who ran his record to 15-2 for the season with a decision over Upland's Bill Ogden in the

Sports news in brief

ATLANTA (UPI) — Atlanta Falcons Coach Marion Campbell took a calculated gamble when he gave up star offensive lineman George Kunz to move up two notches in the first round of next week's college draft.

But Campbell has his sights set on All-America quarterback Steve Bartkowski, believing that the 1974 college passing champ is the man who can get the Falcons' lagging offense back on track.

And acquiring the No. 1 draft choice from the Baltimore Colts Thursday was the only way Campbell could be certain of landing the 6-foot-4, 215-pound Bartowski.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —

Rod Dedeaux will preview his 1975 University of Southern California baseball team Sunday in a charity exhibition game at Dedeaux Field against an all-star team which includes the Los Angeles Dodgers' Willie Crawford and the San Diego Padres' Bobby Tolan.

The game is sponsored by the Health Manpower Consortium of Los Angeles and will start at 2 p.m. PST.

HOUSTON (UPI) —

Houston Oilers head coach Sid Gilman, whose castoff club finished 7-7 last season to earn Gilman AFC coach of the year honors, Thursday night said he would not be back as coach of the team next season.

"I'm going to serve as general manager and I hope we can keep this staff intact," he said.

NEW YORK (UPI) —

The North American Soccer League expanded to 20 teams Thursday with the awarding of a franchise to Portland, the fifth addition to the league for the 1975 season.

BALTIMORE (UPI) —

The World Hockey Association club formerly known as the Michigan Stags is preparing to play the remainder of the season as the Baltimore Blades.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —

Once-beaten Andy Price, 140, Los Angeles, handed Centavito Hernandez, 139½, Tijuana, Mexico, a savage beating for seven rounds Thursday night at the Olympic Auditorium before the corner of Hernandez called a halt to the scheduled 10-round.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —

Arthur Ashe, Cliff Richey and Marty Riessen were the only seeded players to remain in the running for the $15,000 first prize in the $115,000 U.S. Pro Indoor Tennis Championship after winning victories Thursday here at the Spectrum.

PAL hosts boxing show

Albert Sandoval, fresh from a knockout victory over a Russian opponent in Las Vegas as a member of the U.S. amateur boxing team, will be in the ring Saturday night when the Pomona Athletic League (PAL) hosts a boxing show at the Sacred Heart Recreation center in Pomona.

Ten bouts are on the card, featuring young boxers from all over Southern California. Sandoval, a light flyweight at 106 pounds, will battle an as yet unnamed opponent.

The show is scheduled to get underway at 8 p.m. A $2 admission fee will be charged at the door.

Thursday's results

Occidental 56, USC 33 (non conference)

Tonight's games

La Verne at Claremont-Mudd, 8 p.m.
Pomona-Pitzer at Whittier, 8 p.m.
LIFE Blue at Caltech, 8 p.m. (non conference)

this year, the Leos have won by a total of just six points. Last year, La Verne beat C-M twice by a total of three points.

No more than five points have separated winner from loser in the Leopards' last four games and six of their last seven.

"I suppose the game at Claremont-Mudd will be another close one," a writer remarked to La Verne coach Art Bias after the Leos had chalked up a two-point win at Pomona-Pitzer Tuesday.

"I hope not," replied Bias shaking his head. "But they're a much improved team. Remember (Johnny) Daniels didn't play against us that last time and he's probably the quickest guard in the league."

The Leos victories have been strictly due to their defense. The last five opponents, which include the three highest scoring teams in the conference, have been held to an average of 35.2 points per game.

"We're holding our opponents down to what we want," Bias admitted. "But we aren't scoring like we should. Our shot selection hasn't been bad. At the beginning of the year, we shot well off the run, but turned the ball over too much, so I slowed them (the players) down and it threw them out of kilter. But we've cut our turnovers down more than 10 per game over the last six games and are playing well."

In Tuesday's win over Pomona-Pitzer, the Leos had only nine turnovers. Turnovers have been one of Claremont-Mudd's big problems all seasons. The Stags are averaging over 20 a game.

However, in Tuesday's loss at Redlands, turnovers were not the cause as each team was guilty of 18. But Redlands shot over 50 percent to the Stags 36.7 percent.

La Verne will be without Bill Rockwood who has a ruptured tendon suffered in practice Monday. But Don Carter, who left the team for personal reasons the same day, returned to practice Thursday and will see duty as a swing man tonight.

Tom Jones, a 6-4 senior now recovered from a hand injury, will start in Rockwood's place. Sophomore Mark Gibson, who started at forward Tuesday, will return to being the third guard.

At Whittier tonight, the Sagehens (2-3) will try to return to the brand of basketball they had been playing before the La Verne game. Whittier (4-1) is in first place by itself now.

"I don't think there are any easy games," sighed "Hens" coach Les Nagler. "I don't think a team could lose more than two games and win the conference title. But the way things have been going, the eventual champion might wind up with three losses. You have to favor Oxy, Whittier and Redlands."

The Poets defeated the Sagehens, 65-53, in the conference opener in Pomona memorial Gym. But that was the Hens' first game after a three-week holiday layoff.

Geoff Northrop and Brandon Boyd have been playing stellar basketball ever since conference play began. Northrop has 99 points and 84 rebounds in five league games while Boyd has 93 points and 44 rebounds.

Did you ever see a dusty whirlwind on a hot summer day? The whirling column of dust is called a "dust devil."

Dust devils occur most often over prairies and sandy deserts, where the hot ground heats the air above it to a high temperature.

In the desert regions, large dust devils are sometimes known as "sand pillars."

A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DAL), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Ask Dr. Brothers

Sign of hostility

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: We have a daughter in her second year of high school and two weeks ago my husband and I were snocked to learn that she had joined a group of delinquents and broken into her school on a Saturday night. These young hoodlums smashed windows, broke typewriters and other equipment in the science department and did untold damage. Our daughter has always been an excellent student, scholastically at the top of her class.

We have tried to instill the proper values in her and we always assumed she was well adjusted and sensible. Until last year, she was a model child. She even had her own bank account and during summer vacation she worked so she could add to that savings. She was, in every way, a responsible person. We don't know what happened.

Dear C.S.: Without knowing your daughter and you and your husband, I can only guess at some possible reasons why your daughter seemed to suddenly change from a "model child" to a rebellious, angry teen-ager.

Rubbing alcohol

Use rubbing alcohol to clean your telephone and its plastic-covered cords. Polish them with a soft, dry cloth.

Sewing supplies

Keep a set of hand sewing supplies — needles, thread, thimble and scissors — in your laundry room to make quick repairs of clothing before it goes into the washing machine.

Holding a scent

Reapplication of perfume to one area can cause drying and irritation. Smooth a tiny dab of petroleum jelly over these perfume joints to protect skin and make the scent last twice as long.

Actor to perform at Citrus College

Actor-author-art collector Vincent Price will present a one-man show in the auditorium of Citrus College at 8 p.m. next Friday.

Price was born in St. Louis, Mo., and majored in art at Yale University, then studied for his master's degree at London University. While in England he tried out for a theater role and got it. His first major part was in the London production of "Victoria Regina" opposite Helen Hayes.

VINCENT PRICE

An art lover since he purchased his first Rembrandt etching at the age of 12, Price has achieved a reputation as an art collector and critic. He is a member of the Royal Academy of Arts, the board of the Archives of American Art and the Art Council of the University of California.

He is also a gourmet cook and the author of "Treasury of Great Recipes."

Price has starred in more than 100 films, including "Song of Bernadette," "Laura," "Dragonwyck," "The Ten Commandments," "The Pit and the Pendulum," and "The House of Seven Gables."

Gallery Theater to stage musical

Mark Shipley, currently appearing in the Gallery Theater production of "The Odd Couple," will play the leading role of Albert and direct the musical, "Bye Bye, Birdie," opening at the Ontario theater Feb. 27.

Other leading roles will be played by Les Carnahan (Conrad Birdie), Lori Burkhardt (Kim), Juli Burkhardt (Rosie), Douglas Dowd (Mr. McAfee), Tamson Woodman (Mrs. McAfee), Nancy Puthoff (Randy McAfee), Nedra Volz (Mrs. Peterson), Jim Harding (Hugo Peabody) and Carol Hossler (the Mayor).

Others in the cast are Steve Coyne, Rocky Covill, Tim Clark, Rick Mayer, Robert Worley, Mike Waters, Dominique Levoi, Jeff Pomeroy, Adele Place, Jack Bradshaw, Ruth Galbraith, Jan Shuler, Norlynn Hardy, Jan Love, Mickey Holland, Karen Lewis, Christina Wohlgehan, Jennifer Adams, Dee Dee Jernigan, Dana Felts, Jo Glidewell, Stacey Vanette, Barbara Blackwell, Julia Fazio and Carol Harmer.

Duane Thomas is assistant director and directing the music. The choreography will be done by Miss Glidewell and costumes by Karla Skrob.

Nobuko Imai

Violist presents Claremont recital

By RALPH PIERCE
Subscribers to the Young Concert Artist series of the Claremont Colleges received another rare treat in Garrison Theater Tuesday night when they heard the young Japanese violist, Nobuko Imai, in a recital of choice repertoire for the viola.

Solo recitals on this instrument are somewhat rare, and the available music is more limited than that for the violin or cello. Miss Imai chose a program of seldom heard works with the exception of a group of Fritz Kreisler favorites which she arranged from the original violin version. The program opened with the beautiful and, for this listener, never heard Maerchenbilder of Op. 113 by Schumann. They were delivered with a true Schumannesque romantic style with very excellent support of Edith Orloff at the piano. This was followed by the three selections by Kreisler in which she showed that the viola can be as expressive as the violin for which they were written.

After intermission we heard an Unaccompanied Suite for Viola composed in 1971 by one of her countrymen, Yoshio Iino. The work, in a very contemporary atonal idiom, gave the artist opportunity to demonstrate various effects possible on her instrument. The program closed with the beautiful Sonata in A Minor for Arpeggione by Schubert. Since the arpeggione as an instrument had a very brief existence during the beginning of the 19th Century, this work has been performed on various other instruments with the necessary transportation. The viola version was certainly one of the most beautiful, and the Misses Imai and Orloff delivered it with the appropriate warmth and style to make it a performance to be long remembered.

The small but enthusiastic audience demanded still more, and we heard two of the Ancient Dances for Viola by Marias. As has been done by the other "Young Artists," the performers are spending several days in the community playing at various schools and visiting with the students.

HIGH FLYERS — Skyking, local musical group, will perform a concert in the Pomona High School gymnasium at 8 p.m. Saturday. Skyking has been playing together for six months. Its repertoire ranges from rock and roll to country-western. From left are Jim Curl, bass; Garry Rice, rhythm; John Thedford, drums, and Jim Gallucci, lead. Admission is $1.50.

American Film Theater embarks with hope on 'sophomore year'

By DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — This is the sophomore year for Ely and Edie Landau's American Film Theater. Whether or not the program goes on to graduation depends largely on how it does this year. Last year, its freshman year, was experimental. And, Landau says, it was a critical success but not a financial one.

"We have not yet proven," he says, "that subscription movie-going is a viable financial concept. The acceptance was good but not huge." There were eight in the first season's schedule, but only five this year, including "The Man in the Glass Booth," "The Maids" and "Jacques Brel."

What's happened to last season's eight films? Landau says they've gone back into the vaults and that's where they'll stay. "All the pictures had four performances," Landau says. "I made a semicomicment that they would be re-released every three years. The negative is real estate to me. "Ultimately, we will rent it out—to TV, finally. First is the subscription showing. Then general release. Then schools and colleges. Then foreign release. And only after all that will we rent it to TV."

The Landaus are currently embarking on another major project which they call Children's Film Theater. They are making 10 films for children from ages 7 to 11. These are all new stories—no classics, no fairy tales—and Edie Landau says these will be sold via credit cards in theaters.

It used to be that men's fashion was virtually dictated by Hollywood. No more. John Weitz, the New York expert whose latest book is "Man In Charge," says, flatly, "The film business has finished fashion."

He believes that today the models most young American men follow are not actors but basketball and tennis players. "There's nobody on TV who is a model the public wants to emulate," he says. "Everybody on TV is a policeman."

As for movies with fashionable figures—"There's not been a single movie about a fashionable man since Cary Grant's day," Weitz says.

Nevertheless, he admits that kids follow movie trends. He says that when "Easy Rider" came out, "thousands of kids transformed their hairdos and started riding motorcycles."

But the public dresses like its heroes and today its heroes are football players. "They are the prime offenders," Weitz says. "They have no background but lots of money. They feel secure—the security of the crude."

(A F T's "sophomore year" will open Monday and Tuesday with Topol in Bertolt Brecht's "Galileo" at the Wescove Cinema in Covina.)
